RUN AWAY A FEW OBSERVATIONS BY OUR REPORTERS

Earnst Lewis has an Exciting Runaway Last Evening Causing a Damage of $150

A bad runaway occurred from the residence of H P Lewis in Old Town last evening. Earnst Lewis had just returned from a trip down town, having driven the big brown team belonging to Press Lewis. He opened the barn lot gate and allowed the team to pass through alone. About this time the horses concluded they had not had sufficient exercise and refused to obey the command "Whoa!" They ran through the lot, tore the end out of the buggy shed, left a wheel behind and scattered a crop of boards through the orchard. Evidently there will be a short crop of peaches and pears on some of the trees as a result of coming in contact with the wagon. The north end of the house was struck, leaving one corner in good shape to be used as a ventilator. They finished up on the corner of First street and Jefferson Ave., with one wheel, one single tire and one tug hook. The balance was scattered along the route taken by the runaways. The horses were somewhat injured, one being quite severely hurt.

Press Lewis, the owner of the outfit, estimates the damage at $150 or more. Earnst Lewis, the driver, escaped unhurt.

WHERE OLD HATS GO.

Clerk Tells of Unique Scheme For Making Cigar Money.

"Needn't send that old hat home," said the customer as he placed the newly purchased derby on his head. "It's too shiny around the edges, and it would just take up room in the closet."

The customer walked out of the store and the clerk turned to a friend. "That means cigar money for me," he said, "and I smoke good cigars at that. In most stores it wouldn't do me very much good, as all the discarded hats are given to the drivers of the delivery wagons. But here the house allows the clerks to have the hats, and as result we make a little extra money. About once a week the busheleman comes around to the store looking for old hats, and when I give him all I have collected he pays on an average of 15 cents apiece for them."

"After the busheleman has made his rounds he takes the hats to a shop on South street, and there they are taken apart. The silk ribbons and bands and sweatbands are removed and the hat given a thorough cleaning and new material and trimmings put on. When it is all fixed up it is extremely difficult to tell it from a new hat, and in many cases it will sell for as high as $2. When you can buy a hat for 15 cents, clean it for about 5 cents, put 25 cents' worth of leather and ribbon on it and sell it for a dollar or more, you see where the profit comes in, don't you?"—Philadelphia Press.

Camel Carriages.

Camel carriages are not common conveyances in most parts of India, but on the great trunk road leading to Delhi they are frequently to be seen. They are large, double story wagons, drawn sometimes by one, sometimes by two or even three camels, according to their size. Iron bars which give them a swaying appearance were originally introduced as a defense against robbers, and the carts were probably also used for the conveyance of prisoners. "The most picturesque property of the Punjab government," says John Lockwood Dilling, "is a huge char-a-banc to which is harnessed a team of four or six fine camels with leopard skin housings and gayly attired riders." Neither camel nor bullock carts commend themselves much to the western traveler, but in out of the way places the latter are often found very useful.

Gamblers Fined.
