THE LA GRANDE CITY ELECTION

The city election is over and the city will soon again settle down to the even tenor of its ways and the municipal hall will roll on as serenely as ever. The men elected are all well worthy of the confidence reposed in them by the citizens of the city and there is no question but the administration of the city affairs is in careful and business like hands. The bonding question was settled with an overwhelming majority. In fact the opposing vote was so slight that the vote in favor of bonding might be considered unanimous. This only demonstrates that when this city wishes to join hands and all pull together for a common good, the result is always victory.

Following are the officers elected:

INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK GOOD

The industrial outlook for La Grande this season is at this time very encouraging. The business being done by the business men already located here is very satisfactory. Several new firms have established themselves in the city during the past few months and express themselves as being highly pleased with the patronage received. A number of other business concerns are investigating La Grande as an opening for their particular lines, and some have expressed a determination to come here as soon as they can secure a location.

The outlook in the valley for good crops was never brighter. There has been an abundance of rain and the soil has never been in a better condition to receive the moisture, which insures good crops. Good crops insure prosperity among the farmer and prosperity among the farmer makes business among the merchant and thus the outlook for this city and county is very promising.

FOUND DEAD SUNDAY MORNING

Russell L. Williams was found dead in his room in Fisher's lodging house between 8 and 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Dr. Geo. L. Biggers, who had been called to see him during the night, found him to be threatened with pneumonia. This condition was aggravated by heavy drinking, which is believed to have been the immediate cause of death. He was a single man and his mother lives in Tacoma.

Coroner Henry was notified, but did not deem an inquest necessary. According to instructions from his mother, the body will be buried in Odd Fellows cemetery here.

Illegal Voting

One arrest was made for illegal voting yesterday.

T. S. Tillson was arrested and will be charged with voting in a ward where he is not a bonafide resident. Mr. Tillson attempted to vote in the third ward and his vote was challenged, but he swore it in. It is claimed that he had rented a room in the ward a few days prior to the election for the purpose of voting for certain candidates. The results of his arrest will be watched with considerable interest.

Tokio, March 14—Admiral Togo in a supplementary report on Togo's bombardment at Port Arthur says the Japanese would have been able to rescue many more Russians from the floundering torpedo boat but for the deadly fire of the shore batteries and the close approach of the cruiser Novik. When the Japanese reached the sinking Steregulitshi only bodies of dead Russians were found aboard. The remainder of the crew are believed to have jumped overboard.

A Lone Widow

The death of Mrs. Rebecca Mays, aged 90 years, at Bristol Tenn. leaves but one living widow of a Revolutionary soldier in the United States.

Actual fighting in the Revolutionary war at Lexington and Concord, Mass. on April 19, 1775, and the last battle was at Yorktown Virginia which resulted in the surrender of Lord Cornwallis on October 19, 1781. Peace was declared between England and the United States Sept. 3, 1783 and New York was evacuated Nov. 25, 1783. The total number of enlistments during the war, was 366,410, and total cost was $135,193,705. The United States then extended west to the Mississippi river south to north line of Florida, and north to Canada a little more than one quarter of its present area.

Appreciate Creamery

George D. Goodhue traveling representative of the Commercial Cream Company of Salem was at the Bankers last night en route from La Grande to North Yakima. Says the Pendleton East Oregonian. He has been in La Grande for several days on business connected with the new creamery being started there by local capital. He finds the hotels and grocers delighted with the new industry as it will enable them to get their supplies fresh from the creamery daily and will do away with the old custom of keeping butter on hand until it becomes rancid because of the long distance to the creamery and the delay in getting orders filled.

The confectioners are also rejoicing to know that a fresh supply of sweet cream will be always at hand for ice cream and soft drinks.

Mrs. West's Funeral

The funeral services of Mrs. N. K. West occurred at the family residence at 9:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and were attended by the local Circle of Women of Woodcraft in a body. The remains were sent to Portland on the evening train and were accompanied by Mr. West and daughter.
