SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 9, 1904.

The contest between Mr. Lomax of Union and Mr. Moore of Baker City for the nomination of district attorney, at the present time is believed to be very close. Baker has 14, Union 10 and Wallowa 6 votes, 16 being necessary for nomination. Both men are confident of victory. The result will be known on the 14th when the state convention meets. The state delegates of the three counties interested make the nominations for the prosecuting attorney and joint representatives.

Next week the Williamson-Moody question will be settled and it will certainly be a great relief to many of our citizens whose personal interests will not be affected in the least one way or the other, no matter what the result may be, but who nevertheless are arrantly as much interested as if they were near relatives.

Dangerous For Women.

It is the inclination of advanced years to stirk responsibilities, and a very dangerous tendency it has proved to be for women. When the charm of youth has disappeared there is a great need to keep the public eye from noting the loss of each year. It is all very well to moralize about accepting old age—frankly, there is nothing but regret for any of us in parting with our youthful attractions. Certainly there should be no shame in striving to retain them as long as possible or hiding their loss from the eyes of the world. There is something repulsive in the havoic time makes with human flesh, and any truthful woman will not admit it. If care in bathing, in eating, in sleeping, in dressing, in fact, in all the departments of life, will allow us to be attractive to the eye, may let us practice it to the very limit of capacity.—Boston Traveler.

A Good Household Cement.

An excellent cement for mending a most anything may be made by mixing together litharge and glycerin to the consistency of thick cream or fresh putty. The cement is useful in mending stone jars or any coarse earthen ware, stopping leaks in seams of pans or wash boilers, cracks and holes in iron kettles, etc. It may also be used to fasten on lamp tops or tighten loose nuts, to secure loose joints of wood or iron or in many other ways about the various kitchen utensils, the range, sink and in pantry fittings. In all cases the article mended should not be used till the cement has hardened which will require from one day to a week, according to the quantity of cement used. The cement will resist the action of water, hot or cold, acids and almost any degree of heat.

Couch Cover.

Here is a gorgeous thing in the way of a couch cover. It is an improvement upon the old time afghan. It is crocheted in four broad strips the length. These are put together with bands of heavy linen lace insertions wide, but not quite the width of the crocheting. The whole is lined with satin, which shows through the open work pattern of the lace and the robe—it is too elegant by this time to call it anything else—is finished around the edge with a deep edge of the lace. The one in question is crocheted of two shades of olive green. It is really handsome.

A Case of Mutual Interest.

The three-day national good road convention held in St. Louis was one of the most noted gatherings ever held in the western country, says Country Gentlemen. The problem of making good roads is one that has been before the people in its manifold forms for many years. All who are interested in this subject will be pleased to see that this convention struck the key note of the situation and that there is a moral certainty of a marked result. The difficulty in the past has been in an attempt to put a tax on the farmer for making good roads. It was well said at the meeting that if the farmer pay the taxes for building government buildings in the city the residents of the city should not object to paying taxes to build good roads for the farmer in the country, as the interest in both cases would be mutual.

There yet remains to be nominated as the republican ticket a joint senator and a joint representative for Union and Wallowa counties to succeed Senator Wade and Representative Boutleigh and a district attorney for this judicial district, comprising the counties of Union, Wallowa and Baker.

The reception given the Republican convention at Elgin was appreciated by all the delegates, and the democratic convention which meets here next Thursday will be the recipient of similar courtesies.

Every indication at this time points to a clean campaign. The strongest party will naturally elect their men.

Next Thursday the Democrats hold their convention and then the campaign will be on.

BLOOD CIRCULATION.

Breathing and Its Relation to the Secret of Good Health.

The secret of health, as every intelligent physician knows, is free and full circulation of the blood, and this circulation is dependent absolutely on thorough oxygenation. In many cases where erroneous habits of living have been so long continued that congestion has become chronic in one shape or another—obesity, gout, rheumatism, constipation or tuberculosis having camped in the system and crippled it—the patient is not apt to be in a condition to readily assimilate a sufficient quantity of oxygen direct from the atmosphere. The breathing apparatus must first be properly developed, so that the patient shall be able to gradually increase the supply of air to the system, until at last he recovers the normal power of deep breathing.

With the building up of the lungs through proper breathing there is a metabolism of all the tissues and organs, so that, for most men, breathless exercises are more important than any mere muscular exercise. Not only the lungs, but all the internal organs are brought into play by correct breathing. It develops the heart, stomach, liver and kidneys directly and indirectly and nourishes all these organs as they should be nourished by more blood and better blood in constant and regular circulation. Breathing, therefore, is a sovereign remedy for our national disease of nervous depletion. It might well replace the countless tonics, stimulants and anodynes now so commonly resorted to, where results are nothing less than tragic in thousands of cases.—Maurice Manning, M. D., in Vtm.

Greek Noses.

We learn that the nose of Socrates was not Greek, but such as Greek artists usually assigned to satyrs. Occasionally, as in a beautiful group of satyrs playing dice with a nymph on a bronze mirror, they gave satyrs another kind of nose. The noses of the satyrs in the Tanagra terra cotta are of all agreeable orders of nose, not necessarily Greek. The chances are that the Greeks varied as much as we do in their noses, while the tradition of their art preferred the conventional straight nose. In the same way the kind of Roman noses were just the sort of energetic, conquering people who have Roman noses everywhere, like William of Orange and the Duke of Wellington.—London Saturday Review.

The Mistress' Character.

The London Globe prints a "character" which an English servant leaving kindly gave her mistress: "In answer to your letter, it's not a bad piece. The Mrs. understands her duties, and is steel and obliging, but troubles about getting up early in the mornings. There is plenty, and if you don't mind a place where only one other young lady is kept besides yourself, you might give them a month's trial. I like more so elety, which is why I am leaving."

His Narrow Logic.

"If I had my way," said the man of high principles, "there would be no money in politics."
"But," said Senator Sorghum, "if you didn't put any money in politics it wouldn't likely you could have your way."
—Washington Star.
