THINK IT OVER.—No man of judgment ever invests hard-earned dollars without giving the matter plenty of forethought. On the other hand, no man with sound business sense ever lets a good opportunity for investment slip by.

We'd like to have you scrutinize our town property. Take plenty of time to ascertain its value, then we think you'll come to the conclusion that it's a pretty good investment.

ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP

Pueblo, Colo., April 12.—Sensational developments are expected from the attempted kidnaping, and assault of Charles Demott, the editor of the Italian paper, suppressed by order of Major Hill, commanding the military in Southern Colorado coal fields where a strike is now on. It develops that Demott was attacked by six men after they had tried to force him into a hack. Demott asserts that he recognized two of the men as professional thugs. The police have secured evidence that the plot was directed by a man named Pagani, formerly of Utah, and the six men have since disappeared. All surrounding cities have been notified to watch for the assailants, and minute descriptions have been furnished the police authorities.

Dangerous For Women.

It is the inclination of advanced years to shirk responsibilities, and a very dangerous tendency it has proved to be for women. When the charm of youth has disappeared there is a great need to keep the public eye from seeing the loss of each year. It is all very well to murmur about accepting old age frankly, there is nothing but regret for any of us in passing over our youthful attractions. Certainly there should be no shame in striving to retain them as long as possible, hiding their loss from the eyes of the world. There is something repulsive in the have time makes with time and flesh, and any truthful woman will admit it. If care in bathing, in eating, in sleeping, in dressing, in fact, in the departments of life, will allow us to be attractive to the eye, pray let us practice it to the very limit of capacity.—Boston Traveler.

A Good Household Cement.

An excellent cement for mending almost anything may be made by mixing together litarge and glycerin in the consistency of thick cream or frost putty. The cement is useful in mending stone jars or any coarse earthenware, stopping leaks in seams of tin pans or wash boilers, cracks and holes in iron kettles, etc. It may also be used to fasten on lamp tops or tighten loose nuts, to secure loose bolts whose nuts are lost, to tighten loose joints of wood or iron or in many other ways about the various kitchen utensils, the range, sink and in pantry fittings. In all cases the article mended should not be used till the cement has hardened which will require from one day to a week, according to the quantity of cement used. The cement will resist the action of water, hot or cold, acids almost any degree of heat.

Couch Cover.

Here is a gorgeous thing in the way of a couch cover. It is an improvement upon the old time afghan. It is crocheted in four broad strips the length. These are put together with bands of heavy linen lace insertion wide, but not quite the width of the crocheting. The whole is lined with satin, which shows through the open work pattern of the lace and the robe is too elegant by this time to call it anything else—is finished around the edge with a deep edge of the lace. The one in question is crocheted of the shades of olive green. It is really hand some.

How to Ventilate Sick Rooms.

Sick rooms should be ventilated even more conscientiously than the rest of the house. Many an amateur nurse forgets that the sick require pure air quite as much as the well and so neglect to secure all the air space that is necessary or available. All draperies, hangings and stuffed pieces of furniture that are not absolutely necessary should be folded from the sick room. To air the room without giving the patient any cold place an extra blanket or cover over the bed, draw the sheet up over the patient's head and face and let a strong draft blow through the cracks for a few minutes. This will eventually discharge any layers of foul air that may have collected. Continuous ventilation should be maintained both day and night by means of an open window in an adjoining room, the door between being kept open.

How to Prevent Stoves Rusting.

By applying kerosene with a rag when you are about to put your stoves away for the summer, it will prevent them from rusting. Treat your farming implements in the same way before you lay them aside in the fall.
