LA GRIPPE AND PNEUMONIA

La grippe and pneumonia are treated by Usteopathy with the most gratifying success. It does not wurry about ascertaining the brand of microbes which happen to be busy when one ill or the other seizes the human body. but devotes itself to such radical measures as giving the respiratory trac: a normal blood supply, lessening riotous secretions, holding the tem perature in check, relieving pain, and keeping the excretories active. It is able to accomplish these results with gratifying precision; not even in double pneumonia the new physiological treatment is winning the highest encomiums from the ph swians of all chools, who see its advantages.
