Lynching At Whitebird

(Special to the Observer)

Grangeville, Idaho, June 8—Grangeville today has been doing nothing but talking about the lynching of Thomas Myers for the murder of George Browlee near Whitebird Saturday.

On account of the town not being connected with telephone service, definite information was not received from Whitebird until late yesterday afternoon and during the early part of the day all kinds of rumors were afloat.

The body of Myers was found hanging to a tree at the mouth of Whitebird canyon about one and a half miles above Whitebird.

The rope had been placed around his neck with a common slip noose and the other end thrown over a limb and made fast.

Whether Myers was raised from the ground or jerked from his horse is not known by the general public but on account of the distance of his feet from the ground and the fact that his horse was left tied to the tree, it is probable that he was jerked from the animal as rumored yesterday.

Myers is known to have spoken, but once after the mob caught him. When all hope of escape had passed, he with members of the mob on all sides of him dismounted from his horse and coolly remarked: "Well I guess you have got me." A member of the mob replied: "You bet we have."

The closing scenes of the tragedy will remain a secret with the members of the mob who avenged the murder of George Browlee.

Colorado Democrats

Pueblo, Colo., June 8—The democrats today named delegates to the national convention at St. Louis. The delegation goes unopposed. The Hearst people captured the caucus held by the second district delegates, but when they attempted to pass a resolution instructing for Hearst through the convention it was turned down.
