200 Discharged

[Special to the Observer]

Salt Lake, June 14.—Two hundred miners employed in mines at Bingham 20 miles from here, were discharged today in consequence of taking a lay off on miners union day, the 13th. The Deseret News states the mine owners of Bingham, Park City and Tintic camps have reached an understanding by which they propose to rid the camp of undesirable men, and the Bingham incident is the initial step.

Heavy Fines

[Special to the Observer]

Portland, June 15.—T. A. Wood, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government on pension claims today was fined one thousand dollars by Judge Bollinger. His son, Homer Wood also convicted of conspiracy and was fined two hundred and fifty dollars.

The Circus.

Though Norris and Rowe have enlarged their new big shows until they have grown to the proportions of a huge circus, with two rings and an elevated stage, they have not neglected the trained animal acts which for so many seasons made the organization so full of picturesque incident and interest. Among the multitude of animal acts there are several which stand out with startling prominence. Herbert Ruml's school of educated seals; Herr Geisler's herd of comedy elephants; a quartette of cake walking horses, the enchanting pony ballet, the highly trained monkeys, who perform dozens of amusing antics for the edification of the public, a May pole dance by boys and girls on ponies, the march, drill, and evolutions of the shetland ponies, who obey every order of their martinet of a leader, with a promptness and decision that is admirable. Then comes the Royal Roman hippodrome; the ancient Olympic games revived; the mammoth aerial encave, the immense new menagerie and museum; the antics of the twenty jolly jesting clowns, together with the acrobats, gymnasts, equilibrists, tumblers, leapers, vaulters and athletes, all goes to make up an intensely interesting display. These new big shows will give two grand performances at La Grande Friday June 17th.
