A telephone message to the Union says the fire is not under control, and that there are fears that it will cross the street and take another block. The origin of the fire is not known at present.

Payne is Ill

The Circus.

Though Norris and Rowe have enlarged their new big shows until they have grown to the proportions of a huge circus, with two rings and an elevated stage, they have not neglected the trained animal acts which for so many seasons made the organization so full of picturesque incidents and interest. Among the multitude of animal acts there are several which stand out with startling prominence. Herbert Ruml's school of educated seals; Herr Geisler's herd of comedy elephants; a quartette of cake walking horses, the enchanting pony ballet; the highly trained monkeys, who perform dozens of amusing antics for the edification of the public, a May pole dance by boys and girls on ponies, the march, drill, and evolutions of the shetland ponies, who obey every order of their martinet of a leader, with a promptness and decision that is admirable. Then comes the Royal Roman hippodrome; the ancient Olympic games revived; the mammoth aerial enclosure, the immense new menagerie and museum; the antics of the twenty jolly jesting clowns, together with the acrobats, gymnasts, equilibrists, tumblers, leapers, vaulters and athletes, all goes to make up an intensely interesting display. These new big shows will give two grand performances at La Grande Friday June 17th.
