CAN SHASTA BE SEEN FROM HOOD?

Portland, Ore., July 29.—Efforts will be made Monday to demonstrate beyond further controversy whether Mt. Shasta can be seen from Mt. Hood. The results of the efforts will be flashed to this city Monday afternoon.

W. G. Steel of the local postoffice will leave tomorrow for Mt. Hood, equipped with mirrors and a plentiful supply of red fire. He will station himself on Hood Monday while the Mazamas will occupy similar positions on Shasta. They also are armed with mirrors. During the day efforts will be made to communicate between the two parties by means of flashes. In case the reflections cannot be seen another effort will be made at night.

Promptly at 9:30 o'clock in the evening the Mazamas will start a signal fire of red lights. If it is discerned by the watcher on Hood he will answer by similar means five minutes later. If it is not observed by him, he will start his fires at 9:45, in the hope that they may be detected by the watchers on Shasta.

Pendleton, Or., July 29.—Arthur Hainey, a Lehman Springs liveryman was shot and fatally wounded last night. Details of the tragedy are meagre. Two men declare the shooting was accidental. Johnson and Hoverson drove into Hainey's barn last night. It is alleged that the men were intoxicated. It is said that the travelers attempted to give Hainey a loaded revolver when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the abdomen. Death resulted a few hours later, before a physician arrived. As soon as Sheriff Taylor arrived at Lehman he placed Johnson and Hoverson under arrest. The body will be brought to Pendleton tonight. Hainey was well known here.

Dry Land Alfalfa

Dry land alfalfa is proving a success in Umatilla county. Last year a Pendleton merchant sold 1,800 pounds of seed in an 11 lots, which was sown on dry land all the way from Appner to Wai Walla, and it has done well in almost every instance. This seed is not peculiar except that it is the product of seed from alfalfa which has been raised for a succession of years on lands which were semi-arid and as a result it has become "acclimated" to hazardous and unfavorable conditions of soil and moisture, and for that reason is perhaps more hardy and will withstand drought better than the product of seed sown where there is an abundance of moisture.—Portland Journal

I know they robbed the grave of another victim! No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed. At La Grande Drug Co., and Newlin Drug Co's., drug store.
