THE IRISH WORLD ON TARIFF

The Irish World of Sept. 3rd has most ex elient article on the tariff

The primary id-a in levying a tax upon merchandise entering a community or S ate was to require persons from abroad trading in that community to pear their proper chare in the public expenditures. The tranquillity and order of the community, and hence its commercial possibilities, were main-tained by the government, for whose support the local producers were taxed, for men's and by boys' shoes and it was held that merchants from The J. E. Tilt line is our spec- abroad desiring to enjoy the privilege of trading in that community should contribute their proper share to the maintenance of the government, which assured commercial privileges, and that they should contribute a relatively larger precentage of the value of the merchandis; s.id than was required of the local de-ler, because the for-eign mer hant carried away with him his profits, while the domestic pro ducer or dealer expended his profits in the home community in the support of his family or in the employment of other members of the community Honce the tariff—a tax upon merchandise entering a community from abroad. THE PROTECTIVE THEORY IN

EARLY TARIFFS

The protective theory was recogniz ed in the first tariff of the United States under the Constitution in 1789, which declared in its opening words tha -"Whereas it is necessary for the apport of government, for the dis and the encouragement and protection of manfactures that duties be levied on goods' wares and merchandise im-ported,'' ect. That tariff imposed duties up n about 75 articles, the rates of duty ranging from 71/4 to 15 per cent. One year later an additional number of articles were placed upon the dutiable list, still others in 1792, and sgain in 1794, the average rates of dutiable articles by that time reaching 13 per cent. In the year 1812 the war tariff doubled the rates of duty, making an average rate of 32.7 per ent , and under that tariff, coupled with the an mulus given by the war, oconied great activity in manfacturing

In 1816 the Lown les Calhoun bill went into effect, giving an average rate of about 26 per cent.' which, how-ever, was too low to prevent vast importations from England, which were sept at less than cost prices with the distinct purpose of crushing out of existence the infant in tustries which had been developed during preceding years, and especially during the short pro-tective period from 1812 to 1816-

[From the New York Press.] Osteopathy, the drugless science in medicine, is only about ten years old. The word is not even in the Century Dictionary; edition of 1895. Its practice is going hand in han 1 with bloodless surgery, so that in time we may expert to be cured without pills and cut without a kni'e. Some principles are: "Health means physical adjustment;"" "Health is natural; disease and death, between the time of birth and of tage, are unuatural;" All bodily disorders are the result of mechanical obstruction to the free circula ion of vital fluids and forces " The characteristi veneralization of osteopathy in a nutshell is, ''Most diseases spinal origin.''
