OS-TE-OP-A-THY

Do not drug your nerves into insensibility. They are the monitors of life which warn you that physical wrong exists in your body or that physiological error has crept into your manner of living. Remove the "lesion" If it is a bodily lesion the Osteopath will attend to that for you. If the fault is in your habits correct them. When the cause is removed your nerves will be at peace with you. Do not treat effects. Get at the sources of trouble.

A Runaway Match

It required the genius of Mark E Swan to imagine the circumstances which combine to produce the cleverest of American farce comedies known as "A Runaway Match". Among the famous productions which he has given to the stage are "Browns in Town" and "Whose Baby are You" but these are far excelled in both humor and plot by his latest conceit to be presented at Stewart Opera House Friday eve Sept 30th. It will be produced by the original cast of players who are everywhere praised by the press critics for their exceptionally clever work, while the play itself is commended as being equal to the late Charles H Hoyt's famous productions. The plot is one succession of humorous situations which are so natural and at the same time occur so unexpectedly and opportunely as to keep an audience in a constant state of humorous hilarity. The play furthermore is built upon a legitimate plot and is devoid of horseplay. Catchy special lies are introduced by the various members of the cast. Huller & Bates the well known theatrical firm have the direction of the present tour of the "A Runaway Match."
