Breakfast For Poor Children

Milwaukee Oct. 14.—Poor children are to be furnished breakfast free of charge in all public schools. Alderman John McCoy recently made an investigation and concluded that many poor children whose parents work for a living often go to school without any breakfast. So he started a fund, and committee of prominent women took charge of the money and will see that janitors in various districts furnish breakfast to all who apply. This is in accordance with a suggestion recently made by Superintendent Maxwell of the New York City schools in an address at St. Louis. Thousands of children in city schools he said are unable to give their attention to study because of the gnawing of hunger.

The Bee Tree

Two men, while cutting logs for McKinnis Bros near their saw mill northwest of Summerville, spied a tree which they thought contained a swarm of bees. When they started to cut the tree down the bees swarmed from a hole about thirty feet from the ground. A dispute arose between Old Ben and Charley as to whether they were honey bees or yellow jackets so they concluded to wait until night to finish cutting the tree in order to save the honey and bees.

That evening Old Ben and his wife came prepared to capture the bees and get the honey. Everyone in camp was requested to be present and witness the fun. Nearly all the members of the camp had gathered around the tree. When one of the boys came up some one said this tree is just full of honey taste it, he stuck his hand in the place where they had chopped the tree but all they found was sap. After the laugh had subsided the boys continued to saw. They could not tell which way the tree would fall so they concluded it would be best to see that the women were out of danger.

It was a laughable scene, Old Ben with his hive, his wife with bucket and spoon, Charley with his ax, and Francis, Ivan, Bill, Elmer, Will, Roe, who is always on the go, Tom, Barte, Anna, Sylvester and their wives. O yes and John way back out of danger.

About the time the tree fell the bees began to make it interesting for the spectators and they decided to move. Some of the boys gathered around the hole in the tree where the bees were and of course a dispute arose at once. Some said they were yellow jackets and some said they were honey bees so they tried to find the queen bee. The sting was more like yellow jackets than anything else. While we were disputing the night watch came up and some one asked him if they were yellow jackets. "Well," he said "I was raised in a bee country and if those are yellow jackets they are the queerest ones I ever saw. So in order to settle the dispute they removed the hive and chopped the tree away to get to the nest by the time we found the nest we had decided, from the sting and appearance they were yellow jackets. We burned the nest and returned to camp where the boys proceeded to rub liniment on the places where the bees stung them. X Y Z

Beautiful Columbia

River Folder

A passenger department of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has just issued a beautiful and costly panoramic folder entitled "The Columbia River, through the Cascade Mountains, to the Pacific Ocean." From Arlington to Portland and from Portland to the Pacific Ocean, every curve of the river and every point of interest are shown while Mt Hood Mt Adams, and Mt St Helens, perpetually covered with snow, stand out in their beauty. On the back of the map is an interesting story in detail of the trip from Huntington to Portland and from Portland to the ocean, not overlooking the beaches and the San Francisco trip by ocean. A copy of this folder may be secured by sending four cents in stamps to pay postage to A. L. Craig, General Passenger Agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, Portland, Oregon, by sending the address of some friend in the East, and four cents in postage the folder will be promptly mailed.

Lightful Route, Daylight Ride Dizzy Crags, Deep Canons. A Golden Opportunity—See nature in all her glorious beauty, and then the acme of man's handiwork. The first is found along the line of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad and the latter at the St. Louis World's Fair. Your trip will be one of pleasure—make the most of it.
