A GREAT SENSATION.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Indiana, when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1. Guaranteed by La Grande Drug Co. and Newlin Drug Co., Druggists.

OR RENT—Office rooms, inquire at O F Coolidge's paint store.

Enlarged Packing House

The Oregon Produce Co has bought the two corner lots on Jefferson Ave. and Greenwood streets from O W Neely of Prosser Wash and will erect a three story storage building on same in the spring 80 by 110 feet fronting on Jefferson Ave. and extending to the side track on the north. The foundation may possibly be laid this winter in order to be settled by spring time. The first story will be stone and the two upper stories of brick. Hydraulic lift and everything in connection with the building will be modern and up to date. The object of the company is to do a wholesale storage and forwarding business. They have also bought the corner opposite from W G Masterton. Mr Masterton moves the two wooden building to other lots and the company will erect a $4000 modern brick cottage thereon. They have great faith in the future of La Grande and think that a jobbing and distributing business can be done here just as well as at Baker City or Pendleton.

Typhoid Fever Viewed Osteopathically

Osteopathy by the success attending application in this disease has placed osteopaths in advance of the rapid remedies formerly employed. While these practical results spoken for the osteopaths, the principles which the treatment is based on, by a little study, will be seen clear cut, logical and scientific.

Typhoid fever is directly caused by a germ called the typhoid bacillus, or bacillus of Eberth, after the man who first discovered it. These germs enter the alimentary canal through the medium of our food and drink. They pass with the nutrient and digestive materials through the stomach on down through the upper part of the small intestine. In the mucous membrane lining the lower part of the lesser bowel, they encounter a condition suitable for their growth and development and here they lodge and begin to multiply, producing inflammation and finally ulcers. As a result of their activity poisonous products are generated and are circulated to all parts of the system, producing fever.

This in brief outline is the invisible process of a case of typhoid. It is perfectly safe to say, however, that there are dozens of individuals who have taken these germs into their digestive tracts and not had typhoid for every one that developed it. Now why is this? why did they not all take it? Simply because the germs do not and cannot thrive in healthy tissue and it was only in those persons in whom the lining membrane of the intestine was unhealthy that the micro-organism could act. What made this membrane at this particular point unhealthy? Sometimes we see, to all appearances, a well and strong man attacked. Why this one weak spot in his body? Here is where the scientific application of Osteopathic principles are evidenced. No tissue will be unhealthy if it is receiving its normal, uninterrupted nerve and blood supply.

The Osteopath, as an anatomist, knows that where the nerves which are distributed to the lower part of the small intestine emanate from the spinal canal they have to pass through little holes in the vertebrae and then on through a meshwork of cartilage, ligaments, muscles and tendons before they can reach their ultimate destination. He carefully examines that part of the spine to see if by any previous strain, twist, jar, heavy lift or blow these structures in this area have become thickened, tensed or are out of their normal position. Finding that any of them are so, he reasons that here must be the original and fundamental cause of the trouble; for the nerve fibres passing through and between these spinal tissues, being of much softer and more delicate composition, would be pressed upon and irritated. The nerves being effected thus, the part of the intestine supplied by them would be made unhealthy; for some of these little nerve fibres called vasomotors (vessel movers) even control, by their distribution to the minute circularly arranged muscle fibres regulating the caliber of the blood-vessels, the amount of blood circulating through the intestine.

Arguing logically, then, from cause to effect, would not the most effective remedy for the speediest possible recovery of the patient be that directed toward the removal of the primary cause—the spinal interference?

In harmony with this line of reasoning, the Osteopath directs his skilled manipulations to those spinal tissues with a view to causing these structures to return to their normal condition and thus, through the medium of the now-relieved blood vessel controlling nerves, to allow pure blood to flow in a natural, unimpeded manner through the diseased intestinal area. But what about the poison produced by the germs?

There is but one way that this can be eliminated—that is, through the excretory organs, the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. These are stimulated to their greatest activity, in a manner which drug medication could not accomplish, by Osteopathic treatment directed to the nerves supplying them. The skin should be further encouraged in its work by sponge baths and the kidneys by drinking water frequently, but small quantities at a time. Treatment of the heart and blood vessels through their nerves would equalize the general circulation and help control the fever. By quieting treatment to the sensory nerves wherever irritation is found, the excessive nervousness and restlessness would be relieved. Under such procedure the patient, after recovering from the disease, does not have to spend months in recuperating from the active and reactionary effects of a long course of drugging.—Osteopathic Health.

Fun For All

New music, new costumes, elaborate scenery and pretty girls are some of the features that have been added to the revival of "Finnigan's Ball" which is the vehicle used by Gallegher and Barrett this season for their second annual starring tour. The company is under the management of O. J. Steward, who produced the most successful production ever given this popular musical comedy. "Finnigan's Ball" comes to Stewards Opera House Friday 21.

A THOUGHTFUL MAN.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at La Grande Drug Co., and Newlin Drug Co., Drug Stores.

CURES OLD SORES

Established, Kas. May 5 1903. Beard Snow Liniment Co. for Snow Liniment cured an old sore on the side of my chin that was supposed to be a cancer. The sore was stubborn and would not yield to treatment, until I tried Snow Liniment, which did the work in short order. My sister, Mrs. Sophia J. Carson, Allensville, Millin Co, Pa, has a sore and mistrusts that it is a cancer. Please send her a 50c bottle. Sold by Newlin Drug Co.

Finnigan's Ball

which comes to Steward's Opera House has outlived all the similar organizations which sprung up after the success of Berry and Fay fifteen years ago. It is a shining example of "the survival of the fittest" for the management of Finnigan's Ball has never deceived the public and always given more than was promised. The present company is headed by Gallegher and Barrett, a team that have no rivals in legitimate Irish comedy. A large chorus of pretty girls are a feature. Friday the 21.

HARD WALL PLASTER

Only costs about 5c per yard more than common plaster, and worth many times over.

ADVANTAGES

No danger of freezing as it can be used in zero weather. Being flexible instead of brittle—as all sand mortars are—it will dent like wood when struck or jammed, instead of breaking. Doors, windows, pipe holes, etc are easily cut through it. It is a non conductor of electricity and thus prevents short circuiting. It adheres equally well to brick, stone or common lath. It contains no acids nor chemicals to corrods. It will not burn nor disintegrate by fire being a perfect protection for wood frame work. It will under no condition pit or blister.

Parties having plastering to do should consult me regarding this class of work. Estimates cheerfully given.
