Teachers Return Home.

The Union county teachers returned in a body last night from Pendleton. They report having a right royal good time and the pleasure of attending one of the best educational meetings ever held in the west. And by the way the west has better meetings than any other portion of the U. S.

The good to be gained from these meetings can not be over estimated. Supt. Aokerman presents a new idea in the length of term for the rural school. Have 12 months school and have certain grades attend at certain times, as the 8th and 9th grades from October to March, etc., thus giving all pupils a chance to attend school.

Prof Hockenbury proposes to teach grammar and not so many fol de role, and the Dynamic Education proposed by Supt Torner of Spokane is the greatest reform in education ever thought of. Instead of teaching pupils all the anatomy of frogs, flowers and insects he would teach which of these are useful and which are enemies to man: how to promote the growth of one and destroy the other. He works out his theory in every branch. In arithmetic, instead of compound interest and cubed root and such things as that he would teach the pupil to figure how much the farmers lose every year by having bad roads, and how much they lose by raising scrub cattle.

While these things are new and may never be used in full yet every teacher who heard these addresses will to a certain extent work on these plans and many boys and girls will be taught a useful lesson instead of computing the interest on a partial payment problem or analyzing useless sentences.

Union county was well represented at the Pendleton Educational Meeting. The teachers from this county are the following:

La Grande;—Hockenbury, Noordhoff, Stager, Snyder, Mrs. Nell, Misses Aldrich, Worstell, McIlroy, Tait, Kuhn, Mitchell, Kirtley, Wenham, Logsdon, McKinley, Goodnough, Huff, DeDong, Hensen, Roban, Harris.

Union;—A J Bender, Roy Conklin, Misses Ghormley, Chain, Herriage, Wright, Bidwell, Webb, Denham, Petre.

Island City;—Miss Jones, W L Tucker, Fred Fox.

Hilgard;—Frankie Herriage.

Finnigan's Ball

"Finnigan's Ball was produced last evening on the stage at Stewart's opera house, and a packed house listened, between spasms of laughter to the merry and humorous sallies of wit between the two characters, Casey and Finnigan.

The specialties were numerous and well executed with an unusually large number of changes in rich costumes. It was almost one continual laugh from the rising of the curtain to its falling, and most who were present have sore sides today.
