FREIGHT CARS TAKE A SPIN

Dayton Wash Oct. 25—Four freight cars, heavily loaded with barley, got loose from the switch engine in the Dayton yards of the Northern Pacific and started down the track. Between Dayton and Watsburg there is a considerable grade, and by the time the cars reached the depot they had attained high speed. A team and carriage belonging to Gus Volmer barely escaped being run over at the Preston avenue crossing, and considerable excitement was caused.

The Dayton agent had telegraphed to the operator here the news of the runaway and several persons witnessed the dizzy passage of the cars. Owing to a brake being partly set and to the up grade south of town the cars soon came to a standstill after passing the depot, and were later pulled back by the engine, which arrived in the course of an hour.

Cheats Executioner

New York, Oct. 25—Frank Gustafson, the convicted wife murderer, who was to have been sentenced today to die in the electric chair, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself in his cell in the toms.

OSTEOPATHY IN LA GRIPPE

The Osteopath in treating la grippe may also treat the symptoms as they arise for the sake of giving comfort, but at the same time he applies his work straight to the primary cause, so that he not only has the patient out of bed and at his work in a much shorter space of time but he has no after-effects to contend with, while liability to a recurrence of the disease is greatly minimized. Not alone in the treatment of the disease in its acute form does Osteopathy shine preeminently, but as well in the treatment of all after effects. Even after a lapse of years it has left the patient a chronic sufferer from some organic or functional derangement of the system.

MOB RUSSIAN CONSUL

London, Oct. 25—There was a hostile demonstration at Victoria station tonight on the arrival of Count Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador. The crowds hooted and hissed him and attempted to break the windows of his carriage.

After threatening the ambassador the crowd followed him almost into the embassy. Fortunately nothing resulted; yet throughout the night a special force of police was compelled to guard the Russian embassy.

Benckendorff has always been regarded as the friend of peace and is as much opposed as Count Lamedorff to the Russo-Japanese war. Indeed he is almost Anglophile in sentiment. After escaping from the hostile crowd that met him at the station he drove at a gallop to the embassy. Half a dozen rowdies followed, but the ambassador arrived unharmed. His pursuers encountered a cordon of police that had been hurriedly despatched to guard the embassy. After singing "Rule Britannia" the disturbers dispersed. Prince Sviatopalk-Mirsky, a cousin of the new Russian minister of the interior, and second secretary of the embassy, said:

"The attack on the trawlers was obviously an act of war or a great mistake. No sensible man can think it an act of war and therefore a mistake; and when you make a mistake, all you can do is to apologize and pay for it. Neither the trawler nor tonight's affair is likely to produce a clash between the two powers."
