Ora Eabanks.

The decrased was born in Arkansa twenty years ago, and when a child came to Oregon with her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Eubanks, who set-tled at Dry Creek where they lived several years, floally moving to their orchard home, from whence the funeral took place Sunday. Here they lived a few short years ere the mother was taken away, leaving Miss Ora a little child to the care of Father, three brothers and a sister Etta. From this time Etta and Ora have grown into ovely companionship and womanhood, Little more than a year ago Ora lay at are interested. death's door but by the skill of Dr

Molitor and the tender loving care of her devoted sister Etta, she so recovered her health that friends and rola tives were certain of her earthly pres ence and loving kindness for many happy years to come. But 10 in the stillness of night with only a few days warning the angel of Death -stole into her chamber and snatched from us our dear daughter and sister.

She was a beautiful woman beloved by all who knew her-patient, sym-pathic, forgiving and loving. Pure as the pearly dew, not a blot can be found on her character and her host of friends attested to this by the beautitul way in which she was laid to rest About four hundred friends gathere to pay their last respects to the de-parted and sympathize with the bereft family. By loving hands the church was beautifully decorated and the cold tomb made beautiful by white lining and a profusion of carnations, lillies and choicest roses. This beautiful light that has gone out should be a insting beam to the souls of those who are left behind. She lived a pure life and died in perfect faith, and after her parting words "Glory, Glory, G'ory," there was joy in Heaven and on angel wings her spirit was borne to the haven of rest. For those who remain to mourn her loss and especially the dear sister, wor is cannot express our sympathy.

Gentle sister thou hath left us. Gone to join the Angels fair: From this world of sin and sorrow. From this world of toil and care In our home a place is vacant, Sadness dwells where once was cheer Yet within our hearts forever, Thou shalt dwell most loved and dea and thy gentle loving kindness. While on earth to us was shown; Now in Heaven splendor beckons,

Recalls Interesting Period

The old A R U membership card found in the pockets of Seymour Swauger, who was mangled under the train near Bingham Springs, Saturday morning, recalls one of the most interesting periods of railroading on the O R & N system, when the great American Railway Union, the order started by Eugene V Debs in 1894 reached Oregon, Swauger was working at Kamela, as a coal heaver, and the fittle mountain town contained a population of at least 500 poople, including railroaders and timbermen.

Four helpers were running out of Kamela and the eight crews all joined the A R U, together with Swauger, the coal heaver, all the section men and telegraph of erators. When the strike | 6 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 8 p. m. delly. w s de lared, the operator was the | Readings 25c, 50c, 75c and $1 C)

The Osteopathist's plan is to give a thorough examination to this human organism to find out just where the trouble is, and then correct this trouble, just as any other intelligent ma chinist would do with with a machine of his own con truction. Osteopathy is based upon scientific principles and its technique is insorurable to any but the trained Osteopathic physician yet the common sense of it appeals in startly to all unplased minds, and its philosophy is easily understood.
