I Pay For Rum? This column is the property of the Local Option Committee, who are responsible for whatever may herein appear from time to time. -Ed

What Do

I am a Christian and a citizen in good standing in the community but I spend a lot of money for run. I do not drink, but I go once or twice every year to the proper officer and pay my share of the rum bill. I am ready to pay for street paving

I am ready to pay for street paving sewers, street lamps, public parks etc. but I rebel at paying for the tum. I must do so or the government will take my property to meet the b.ll. On an average not one half of the cost of running sal one comes into our city or county treasures from the saloon keepers in way of licence and they come to you and me to pay the balance of the bill. The strange thing is that we do that yer, thing.

we do that ver, thing. We who do not drink intoxicants are made to walk up every year and pay the largest part of what it cost to narbor the saloons. How long the American people will consent to be robbed in order to keep consent to be robbed in order to keep up this institution, I know not, but the time has come for us to look at the facts and see what we pay for rum and cast our vote agoinst the saloon next fuesday.

DRUG STORE SALDONS

Some one says that if the saloontre closed the drug stores will be a-but as saloons and that just as much iquor will be sold. The law for which we vote next Therday is commistic we vote next Tuesday is especially strict as to druggists. In section two we read as fol ows:

"*** Such stimplants shell only be sold upon the written prescription of a recular practicing physician, date and signed by him, and certified, on and eight of which sha derived, on als has a tist h. the physicar, has personally examined the applicant, naming him, and that he finds bin actually sick and in need of the struu-lant prescribed as medicine; provided, that a physican who does not follow the practice of medicine as a prioring the practice of medicine as a principal and usual calling shall no be authorized to give the prescription provided for in this section; and provided fur-

IN OR OUT

Voter, next Tuesday you will be in partnership with the liquor business of the County if you vote against prohibition for the county. Do you want to stand responsible for the ruin wrought by the business? Every man who votes to probibit the business in the county says by so voting. "I do not wish to share in the crimes committed by drunken men, I do not wish to help rob innocent women and child ren of their support. I do not wish to be partner in ruining the boys." Friend will you be a partner or not? Vote to prohibit the wrong in our ounty.

NOTES

Beware of secret circulars and statements made just before election day when it is too late for the temperance people to reply.

The saloon men are raising money to oppose the local option law becoming effective in this county. How will they spend it? Not for public speakers, bardly for space in the papers where others may reply. Possibly for secret letters. Any way there will not be an open, frank campaign. Why?

The business man who could the favor of the liquor interests is courting loss of trade from the patrons of the saloons, bad bills and as has been demonstrated in La Grande may be courting financial failure for whiskey and business do not mix.

NOT AGAINST. MEN

The local option committee has no attacked any man through this column. We are not enemies of any men, but of a business which injures all who share in it.

Our fight is again t : he liquor business not against the men. We only wish them well so well, that they should engage in some really useful business.

THE WASTE OF LICENSE

The one argument and the only one that is calcolated to influence many voters is the money argument. Men's consciences are generally largely affected by their pocket books. The edver question decided that the last two presidential contests. The tariff and prospecity will dec de this contest The coopomy side of the argument will determine the question of local

Some of our people will vote for no license no matter when may be the result financially. Others will vote for license because they or their friends are interested in the liquor business. But a large share of our people will weigh well the financial side of the question. If the revenue from license is cut off how will we make it up. Will it not cause increased taxation? Communities that have tried it say no I is well established that no license communities h-ve smaller public debts, better rouds and streets and better administration of public affairs than do license communities.

But even if it be granted that the less of license money would cause inther, that no person shall be permitt- creased "existion might it not still be rights, perous people do not feel taxation burden. Would not the increased prosperity of our county more than ized to give it, nor on a prescription stone for the loss of license money! which is not dated, signed and certifi- Would not the money now speut for Would not the money now spent for grog be spent for the comforts and necessities of life? Would not every branch of business save the saloon business be benefited? Would not comfortable? families live more Would not men pay their debte better Would they not work better and earn more! Every thinking man must answer these questions in the affirmative. Maine has tried no license for many years and is so well pleased with it that no politician dare advocate anything else. Her people have more money per capits in the savings banks than have the people of any

Not Democrat Nor Republican Is the salJonkeeper a patriot? Can

he be a purty man? In their essence the words Democrat and Republican are one and the same. Each of these two great parties now at war with'each other for the coming quadrennium of power, is desirous of maintaining the supremacy of our free institutions, each would nail the flag forever to the masthead of our ship of State. Each therefore believes in the sovereign rights of the body politic nd would be willing to call an army to the held to protect the weakest in the exercise of political right.

Every true Democrat and every true Républican believes in the rule of the expressed will of the majority and that that majority has both the right to be heard and to be protected in its decision. Such is the object of the resent election, an incident of which is the vote on local option. But, expression of power and of preference must come as an effect of the action of the mind. How can the mind express its preference if it is not pirmitted so to do? Every man not a demogogical obyster will not only perdemogogical obysics will not only per-mit voters to exercise their right of ex pressing preferences, and will not only not hinder anyone, but to the contrary will aid and assist any and all in get-ting a chance to express fully his mind the who is a patricit, a progressive citi-zen of our Republic wants to know what is the will of the people and will then lead his veriest efforts to have such decision maintained. Still its seems there are those who would prevent a vote to be inken; would prevent the opeile saying what they desire; prevent the carrying out o the purpuses of the public in the exercising of the privileges of the Con-stitution. Such a procedure would engender class legislation a result pro-decing a condition unAmerican—as it is unjust.

The people are the rulers; let them say what they will, when they will. The saloon element i not law-loving consequently not spontaneously law abiding. The officers of the law are not obliged to see that the rear doors of the groceries and the hardware stores are closed on the Sabbath day-but they do have to watch the saloon ele ment to see that it does not violate the commands of the officers. It seems that such are now demanding that the will of the people be not permitted an expression. Why? Because they love their business more than they do the principles of popular freedom. Such men, tho they be clothed in the colors of a party, belong in truth to neither the Democratic nor the Republican ranks; for by denying the people their privileges they would rob them of their
