SATISFACTORY CAMPAIGN.

Largest Tonnage Ever Grown in the Valley
 ---The Company Pays $103,500
 For Beets

An Observer representative visited the sugar factory yesterday and found all connected with the management in the best of spirits as a result of the closing days of the most satisfactory season's run in the history of the factory both from the factory standpoint and that of the grower.

While the acreage has not been so great this season as in other years the total yield has been much larger. This year there have been 24,700 tons of beets delivered, against 11,600 tons last year. This season the acreage was 25,000, making an average tonnage of a little over eight tons to the acre.

The factory this year controlled between 15,000 and 18,000 acres of the 25,000 and next year they will not only plant all they did this season but will add several hundred acres which they recently purchased of the Nicholas firm and the growers have done so well on this crop that they will increase their contracts and the year 1905 now promises to be a new era for the beet culture in this county.

Field superintendent F. S. Bramwell, who has had charge of the company farms has made a careful estimate of the cost and places it at $22.50. The factory pays $5 per ton delivered at the factory, which leaves a profit of about $17 per acre, after paying for the seed, planting and cost of harvesting and delivering.

The factory has paid out for beets the sum of $103,500 and during the two months unand over, will have paid out to the factory employees a little in excess of $16,000. This does not include the cost of fuel, which this season was 3000 cords of wood and 15000 tons of coal. Notwithstanding they secured the most favorable rates on the latter they find wood cheaper.

A visit to their storage room reminds one of the large wheat warehouses only the value is much greater.

At the present time there are about 40,000 sacks of as fine granulated sugar as was ever placed on the market by any factory, the crystals being much finer than heretofore. The total output will be 55000 bags.

When it is taken into consideration that the beet industry is confined to the product of so few acres and as there are so many thousand acres in this valley that beets can be grown on profitably. A few such seasons as this will be the means of placing beet culture second to none in this valley and the factory will be enlarged to double its present capacity, which was the intention when first constructed.
