A Store With A Record

We have been doing busi-ness in this town for 5 years In that time the town has nearly doubled in population

During the same time our business has increased FIVE FOLD. In other words our business has made a great deal more rapid increase than the town has. There are dozens of reasons for this all of which you will perceive if you begin buying drug ators goods of us. In the first place will be deal to the control of the control store goods of us. In the first place we had a thorough training for pharmacy. In the second place we had exceptional opportunities for learning the practical side of pharmacy in a successful drug store of the highest standing. In the third place we have kept our eyes even and attended to business until we know the deman is of the people of this town

MAN

The course of life is like the sea; Men come and go; tides rise and fall And that is all of history! The tide flows in, flows out today, And that is all that man can say Man is, man was—but is this all? -Josquin Mille

LIFE-WHAT WE MAKE IT

'Oh, this world is full of trouble!" But your simply saying so Helps to make the trouble double, Beatters gloom where'er you go. Do you know you set in motion Waves of thought which seethe like a Grande Evening Observer apparent when the stuft the that they were powerless to resent oppression.

The books which were obtained from these sources were translated into English or taken as models and given to the common people to cram down their children as classic lore. In these books if a farmer or mechanic was referred to he was described as a stupid fellow, a scolasticos, or country clown. All the books were written in an atmosphere of contempt for the masses of men, the purpose being to smother every aspiration of the human soul and make the great body of the human family believe they existed solely for the benefit of the ruling class. It would have been treason then to have taught that state policies should look to home and provide for the upbuilding of pleasant homes everywhere.

It is not to be wondered at that our race when it began to move by a conciousness of the innate rights of man should resent such teachings. When our race grasped by unerring intution the great social truth that home, the family is the basis unit of state and seeing that little or nothing was taught in the books offered them to flog their contents into their children, that would render them a particle more capable of supporting a home they jurned with a commendable dignity from the classie trash and styled it "book larnin," meaning thereby that it had no practical value in the homes of industrious free men and home builders.

This refusal, on the part of our people to accept the curiculum, borrowed from perished nations, for their children is the grandest fact in the history of our race. It set the educated class to thinking and it was not The reluctance with which the long in appreciating the justice mass of the people acceeded to the importance of education is of the peoples criticsm and it misunderstood by the educated was not long in providing a class and held by them to be course of studies appropriate to evidence of the duliness of the the wants and a fosterer of the masses. ............... How dear to my heart is the old-fashioned washboard. That mother used to wash on when I was a boy.

With its zinc-covered ridge the suds used to play in And soap bubbles gamboled to my childish joy.

Oftimes have I watched her when wearing her knuckles. As over the ridges our duds she would rub,

I ne'er will forget how she salashed and she slatherep.

The old fashioned wash board that stood in the tub.

CHORUS The old fashloned washboard; The zinc-covered washboard; The back-breaking washboard that stood in the tub,

Some folks always kick about up-to-date lauddries,
And say they wear out their clothes every day;
But give them to me, so I will have a hot dinner
At home, with the smell of the soap ands away.
I know that the washing machine is much easier
On all of our clothes than to take them and rub
Till the buttons an I bosoms are lost and worn out
By the old fashiousd washboard that stood in the tub, We are not the old fashioned kind
