Coming, Coming

"You can't fool all the people all the time but you can certainly please all the people most of the time if you keep at it and that is what I am doing in 'A Little Outcast'" says Manager E. J. Carpenter. That Mr. Carpenter's theory is true was demonstrated by the success of his production which has been the biggest money maker out for the past two seasons and that he means to keep up the standard of excellence is evident from the elaborate production which he has sent out this year and which will be seen at the Steward Opera next Tuesday Dec 6. The scenery and cast excel anything in its class on the road.

A Democrats View

The Cincinnati Tribune of Nov 28th published the following:
"It would be a crime to place the reins of government in the hands of the Philippines," said C. W. O'Brien, of Manila, at the Grand Hotel last night.
"The natives are not capable of self government," he continued. "Although I am a Democrat, I do not hesitate to say that the United States must look after those people for some time to come. They are suspicious of one another and in no condition to rule themselves.

"Too much can not be said of the wonderful fertility of the soil of the islands, but we need railroads and factories. The man with money can go to the Philippines and make money.

"The country is far from being developed. There are opportunities there that do not exist in any other place on the face of the globe."

Mr. O'Brien is a native of Pomeroy O. He is an attorney and went to Manila about four years ago. He is now on his way to his old home for a visit. He will return to Manila in a few weeks.

A TRIBUTE TO HIS ALMA MATER

How often the education of the young people of the household means rigid economy and sacrifice on the part of the father and mother! They are the real heroes of the commencement season. Mr. Moody was fond of telling a story of a student who was an honor to his alma mater.

"There was once a boy in college and he was about to graduate. He wrote back to the farm for his mother to come. She replied that she could not do so. She said her clothes were worn out, and she had no money to buy new ones for that occasion. She had turned her skirt twice, and it was ragged on both sides. The boy said come anyway. The poor old woman went in her best, which was not very stylish.

"The commencement was in a fashionable church. The son was prouder of his mother than of his honors. He walked with her down the aisle to the center of the church, and escorted her to one of the best seats. There were tears in her eyes, and she burst out weeping for joy when her son pronounced the valedictory. The president pinned a badge on his coat. The young man left the stage and went directly to his mother. He took off his badge and pinned it on her dress. There were tears in his eyes. Then he bent over and kissed her wrinkled face. The boy animated by that kind of pride will make a man who will be an honor to his country and to his God. Such a boy is the glory of our kind. May his number increase until the shadows of his loveliness cover the whole world.—Selected.
