Work now in Progress on New Foundry

That La Grande is assured of a machine shop and foundry is now beyond question. Mr. Fitzgerald yesterday concluded his arrangements with Mr. H. L. Alexander whereby he succeeds to his business which he will continue with his other enterprise. This morning he had a force of men at work on new buildings. The present blacksmith shop will be extended twenty feet and along on the south side a new building forty two by one hundred will be built just as soon as the material can be secured.

Mr. Fitzgerald expects to have his work here advanced to such an extent that he can return to Dayton in about one week when he will ship his present plant and move here with his family.

By the middle of February Mr. Fitzgerald will have everything in readiness to make castings, repair all kinds of machinery, and do a general blacksmith business. He for a number of years has manufactured the Fitzgerald roller feed mill which can be run with any power and he will continue their manufacture here.

By noting the want columns you will find that he is in the market for cast iron which has heretofore been cast away or shipped to Portland.

That the La Grande Iron Works will prove a success goes without saying. Here is the central point for a large territory that such an industry can draw from not only this county but also Wallawa.

The Osteopathic physician is a nature-student. He learns the normal in order to recognize the abnormal. He is a mechanic and seeks to restore the normal when he finds the machine out of order. He is a chemist, recognizing the chemical composition of the body and of the essential elements taken into the body to restore the actual waste. He learns the value in these elements and how and when they can be appropriated by the body to replenish the waste.

A Correction

[Recorder]

"Our attention having been called to an article in the Elgin Recorder of January 13th, 1905, attached to and made apparently a part of the report of this bank, the article referred to may be misunderstood by some and do an injustice to Mr. J. W. Scriber and, through him, the Farmers & Traders National Bank of La Grande, we wish to make this statement:

From the time of the organization of the First Bank of Elgin in 1898 Mr. J. W. Scriber took an active interest in its welfare and was always counseling such management as was for the bank's best interest and prosperity as well as the prosperity of this community. When the First National Bank of Elgin succeeded to the business of the State Bank it was largely through his assistance and counsel that the plan was perfected.

It was intended to re-elect Mr. Scriber as one of our directors at the annual meeting, January 10th, 1905, but at his personal request and desire to have the First National Bank of Elgin owned, controlled and managed by persons living in Elgin and the immediate vicinity, he was left off the board of directors. His counsel has always been wise and just and it was with regret that we accepted his resignation.

For the reason of the former article we would ask that this be published in the Elgin Recorder in the next issue.
