A MESSAGE TO DYSPEPTICS

Osteopathy has a message of cheer for dyspeptics. A new cause has been found underlying dyspepsia and as should naturally follow, a new cure. It is not in the shape of a marvellous pill, nor yet prolonged fasting—for both of which people feel distrust if not dread; but the cause has been determined in most cases to be a defective spot in the back, which is usually susceptible of cure Osteopathically and with it the torments of the most chronic dyspepsia.

Better Prices

An instance of the way horses fit for cavalry use have advanced in price the past few years is seen in the awarding of contracts at Seattle a few days ago for over 1000 head for the use of the American army in the Philippines. Charles F. Clancy and Dudley, Baker and Simons of Seattle were awarded the contract for furnishing 540 head at $135 each. The contracts for furnishing the remainder of the 1000 head wanted were awarded to Portland and Tacoma firms.
