Corvallis Feb 16, 1905

Editor Observer;

I have been thinking that perhaps a few lines from this part of the country would be of interest to the people of Union County

Corvallis is a town of about 3000 population situated on the west side of the Willamette River some 90 miles south of Portland at one time a thriving Rail Road town but at present it gains its support from the surrounding country and the Agricultural College which is situated here. The Receipts from the College are from $80,000

$100,000 per year I have been struck with the truthfulness of the argument presented by our wet brethren that the grass would grow in the streets of a dry town for I have found such to be the case here, this town went dry (inwardly) the first of the year since that time the grass has grown very rapidly While they manage to keep it down on the principal streets yet in the alleys and back streets there is a luxuriant growth

Now, while one will have to admit after seeing this that grass will grow when run is prohibited, yet it is not so bad as they would have us believe, for it not only does away with the dust on those streets, where the sprinkler doesn't reach There has not been a particle of dust since the first of the year

But it can be made to bring in quite a revenue to the city in way of pasture for that "town cow" a problem our wet town have been trying to solve for, lol those many years. The cow here is not allowed to run at large but is protected with a rope some thirty feet long. This is changed once a day, and at ten cents a day would bring in quite a sum. for some of our towns You may ask if the people are satisfied with the change. In answer I will cite you to a mass meeting which was held in this town a few days ago the meeting was called to get the sentiment as to the change of Local Option Law. It was unanimous against changing it. I have never heard of an arrest being made or any disorderly conduct on the streets. The College is situated on an elevation west of the town proper, this I will not try to describe at this time for want of time. There are about 630 students enrolled in the different departments. There is a class of one hundred in wood work of which ten are young ladies, they are supposed to give one hour a day to this work. There are about the same number in the blacksmith shop. There is quite a class in the machine shop, but as I understand only seniors can take this course the class is much smaller. There are large classes in all the other departments such as Horticulture, Floriculture, Mining, Engineering, Surveying, Dairing, In fact everything needed in the ordinary affairs of life is taught here. For those who are older and have not had the advantages of such a school, they give a short course in Farming and Dairing, which every farmer and dairy man should take. While the lectures are free yet they take up the latest and most scientific means of handling these industries A more competent and obliging set of Professors it has never been my lot to meet. Every one seems to be anxious that his part is thoroughly understood by the class. They never tire of questions by those who are trying to learn. The students are all required to take the physical culture except those who are physically liable. A more healthy lot of students one seldom sees, and for gentlemanly and lady like conduct it is not to be surpassed.

Itch-- Ringworm

E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky, writes, April 25th 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a maleady known as the 'itch'. The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the Liniment on two separate occasions for ring worm and it cured completely. 25c, 50c and $1 bottles. Newlin Drug Co.
