The trust magnate without a subpoena in his pocket is looked upon as one of the smaller fry.

With respect be it spoken—the end of man's usefulness is at hand when he can't raise the needful for the Easter bonnet.

The Stone Lake Ice Company claimed to be a member of the Ice Trust, pleaded guilty to conspiracy in fixing the price of ice and was fined $500.

Mr. Neidringhaus is over 40 and so is Mr. Kerns. Each gentleman has done something effective in the way of showing that neither one can be elected to the Senate from Missouri.

There's nothing improbable in the story that Pierpont Morgan is sailing to African coasts for the purpose of buying the Desert of Sahara. He has the sand and the dust to do it with.

To think of it in this twentieth century! New York's legislature is considering a bill abolishing imprisonment for debt. In advanced communities a bill of that sort wouldn't require much consideration.

There is beginning to be some base ball talk, and it is right and proper that there should be, La Grande has the talent to produce a good ball team and the proper encouragement should be extended to the boys to organize a team which will keep La Grande in the place she deserves. As La Grande has always put up a good ball, there is no reason why this season should not see as good a team as was ever produced here. There is plenty of home talent. All that is needed is to get together and help it along a little.

Theodore Roosevelt was inaugurated president again today with the most elaborate and imposing ceremonies ever witnessed in the national capital. In striking contrast was the plain, short address of the President on assuming the high station of chief executive of the leading nation of the world. Only good omens herald the new administration, and a trustful people turn hopefully to the strong young leader who during the past few months has given many evidences of his determination to conduct public affairs in the interest of the plain people of the nation.—Boise Capital News (Dem.)

Postmaster Wynne has been named as consul general at London. He is one who has climbed up from the bottom, and is deserving of the opportunity thus afforded him to amass a competence. The position of consul general at London is the most lucrative in our consular service, the fees being very large, while the expenses are comparatively small. As a cabinet officer, a man must expend nearly if not quite all his salary, but in the London berth Mr. Wynne will be able to get ahead in the world in a manner that he merits because of his great services to the government and the people in connection with the postal frauds.

A couple of years ago 737 millionaires who are citizens of New York City were unofficially named and the approximate accuracy of the list was never questioned. Many of these were multimillionaires. The property which makes some of them millionaires, is largely taxed in real estate, but it would be an absurdly small estimate to say that the whole number given had an average of $1,000,000 each in personal property. Yet the assessor this year is able to call the roll of but eight New Yorkers who confess to as much as $1,000,000 of personality, and these eight are taxed for only $15,500,000 altogether!
