HORSES KILLED

AT ELGIN

The Elgin train yesterday, while switching in the yards at Elgin, ran over two horses belonging to Mr. E. B. Morsell, the result being that both horses are now dead. As the report was received from one of the spectators the train was backing in order to spot some cars immediately across the railroad and wagon road crossing. The driver was attempting to drive across the track with his wagon and team, when one of the railroad officials called to him. At this time, it is reported, the horses were upon the track and the lines were slack. The driver began to pull the horses back as fast as possible, and succeeded in backing them some, when, the train being so near, he thought the team would surely be hit and he jumped from the wagon to save his own life. When he released the lines, the horses started up again, walked on the track and were struck by the train. When the train hit the team, they were carried a few yards and caught in a small trestle, breaking a leg for each horse, which necessitated the killing of both of them.

ARE BUILDING THE SCAFFOLD

The Dalles, July 19.—It is safe to say that there is not a person in The Dalles who will not feel relieved when this week is past and with its passing the awful duty which the crime of Norman Williams made necessary, be accomplished. As the lumber for the scaffold was hauled to the alley back of the court house this morning and the work of clearing out the yard preparatory to erecting it began, all seemed more exercised over the fact than did the condemned man himself, who to all appearance is unmoved. Whatever Williams may be otherwise, he has been a model prisoner and a man who has made friends of his fellow prisoners. As the back door of the jail was closed this morning to prevent his seeing the preparations, he said: "There is no use making all the others uncomfortable, shut me in the cell and give the men fresh air." And then he remarked that he wouldn't mind watching it anyway. He seems in good spirits and joins in any fun that may be going on. He is certainly possessed of remarkable self control, and still affirms his innocence of the crime he must in a few days expiate.—Dalles Chronicle.

Notice To Water Consumers

All persons knowing themselves to be in arrears for city water are hereby notified to call at the office of the city Recorder and settle at once. In order that there may be no misapprehension we cite the customer to the following section of the city ordinance. This ordinance will be enforced.

Section 28.—The water rates shall be payable in advance at the office of the water superintendent on the first day of each month (except for meters which are payable on the first day of the succeeding month), and if not paid within the first ten days the water will be shut off the premises, as provided in Sections 26 and 27.

Later ordinance provides that water rates shall be payable to City Recorder instead of Water Superintendent.
