A FREE OPPORTUNITY A free opportunity to acquire a fortune now awaits any person who will find in Union county the material out of which cement used in making walks, buildings and roadways can be made.

One kind of cement called hydraulic cement because it hardens under water is composed of 20 or 30 per cent of clay, or finely pulverized silica, quartz or flint, and from 70 to 80 per cent of lime.

Portland cement is made from clay found in the valley of Medway, a tributary of the Thames in England, and chalk, mixed together and burned.

A HUNDRED YEARS OLD The Eckerdorf of Illinois, in Prosser, celebrated its one hundredth anniversary this year.

Do not forget the home folk. Remember that it is the home people to whom you look for a market for your products, and to them you visit when you wish accommodations.

Each day brings its reports of extra heavy grain yields, and each day brings assurance that the million bushel mark will be reached with some to spare.
