Coyote Drive

The citizens of southern Franklin county are preparing to entertain themselves and friends by a big coyote drive on October 11. It is to be a genuine drive and not a hunt, because no guns will be allowed. It is announced that a participant will be allowed to defend himself by means of a shillalah only in case the hunted becomes the hunter. The Pasco Express has the following announcement of the occasion:
"Horses and dogs will be the only accessories allowed. Guns are not permissible and will not be allowed. However, should anyone be trod by a coyote and have to defend himself he will be excused for using a club if he will agree not to show the 'white feather.'"
