WALLOWA COUNTY IS ADVANCING

L. Couch, of the firm of Couch & McDonald, real estate dealers of Wallowa, Wallowa county, has been in the city for a day or two on business. When questioned by an Observer reporter as to conditions in his county he said: "Conditions were never better in a business and industrial way than this fall. An abundant harvest has just been gathered. More stock, cattle, sheep, hogs and horses will be and have been marketed this year than ever before. The certainty that the county will soon have railroad transportation has caused real estate to make a sharp advance, but good land can yet be had much cheaper than in other communities where railroads have long been established. The era of prosperity for Wallowa county is just beginning and the next year or two will see its population and production more than doubled."

A Great Advantage

The cheerful sound of the woolen mill whistle is now heard in the land and with the new boiler capacity, the whistle can be blown without slowing down the machinery. The woolen mill is all right.—Union Republican.
