Attend any of the theatrical performances given in this city and note how little applause is given the actors. A pleasing feature of a performance should be applauded even if in your opinion the rest of the show is poor.

Did you ever notice that after a rain the higher parts of a street dry first? This is because there is a drainage. After our sewer system comes let us begin to think about some graded streets that will dry up quick after a rain and become passable.

Advertisers appreciate the worth of the Observer if the amount of space used is a criterion. You can't get trade by merely making a good window display, by tooting a phonograph or by circulars. You have to use the columns of a newspaper to reach the buyers.

It begins to look as though there would be a land slide for Mr Hearst for mayor of New York city. Hearst has made a gallant stand for the masses against the classes and yet has said nothing that can offend the possessors of honestly acquired wealth.

Men of worth command attention and respect the world over. This has again been exemplified in the Republicans of New York city endorsing the nomination of Joseph R. Cannon.

The great turning point in the history of Russia is at hand. The time has arrived when the common people of that vast empire demand that the yoke of oppression be removed and the freedom that all men crave be given them. The acts of the past few days have been brought on by the government alone and to his predecessors and to himself Nicholas may lay the blame for the massacres and riots. The Russian government has been a faithful teacher of cruelty, murder and oppression. Beginning with Ivan the Terrible and going down the line of the later emperors the teaching has been the same. Russia is merely reaping what she has sowed.
