Jail Escapes

Fred Fehrmann, who has been held in the Morrow county jail the past few weeks on a charge of wife-beating, made his second escape from the jail Tuesday night by digging through the stone wall of the prison. Fred Creighton, who was lodged in jail Monday evening on a charge of burglary, also escaped. The method of escape was identical with Fehrmann's first break. He dug through the stone wall, which is eighteen inches thick. But he did not attempt to go out at the same place as before, which in the meantime had been repaired. This time the hole was on the south side of the jail at the edge of the barred window. The other time he went out on the east side.—Hepburn Times.

Osteopathy

Permanent Cure For Dyspepsia

If Osteopathy merely offers temporary relief, it can have no excuse for existence. Relief can be gotten by the old remedies of medicine, or in many cases by proper dieting alone. That which can offer nothing better, nor is cheaper, is not progress, so can have no claim to attention. But Osteopathy is daily proving its claim to attention, especially in disorders of digestion. Disregarding the minutiae of symptoms which always obscured the reasoning of medical men, the Osteopath goes direct to cause. Cause is made paramount, the removal of which comprises his work. The Osteopath contends that the administration of drugs to aid digestion is unreasonable, unscientific and harmful. That to cure, the structures of the body must be perfect and perfectly in line that the circulation of fluids and nerve force may go on undisturbed. Then all processes of the body will be active, giving to the body as a whole, perfect health.
