Midshipman McKittlick described the ght and said, "The fight was to a finish according to the custom and Queensbury The first 15 rounds were very even. Branch began to press things. The next few rounds Branch had the better of the fight until about the 20th round Meriwether fouled by hitting in a clinch. He admitted the foul and offered to forfeit the fight. Branch said he could not take the fight that way and it was decided to go five more rounds and then call it a draw if both were still standing. About 20 seconds later it was reported that a guard was coming from Bancroft hall and we put out the lights and called the fight a draw. I helped Branch to his room and although he was able to walk he left with his room mate who prepared a hot bath-

SUPREME JUDGE

Salem, Nov. 22—Governor Chamber-lain today appointed Thomas G. Halley to the supreme bench to succeed Wolverton. who was appointed to the federal judge-

Mr. Hailey is well known over eastern Oregon. He was born in 1864 this in city in the Old Town. He is a compara-tively young man and has been identified with the Democratic party for many

For the paserew years he has been associated with Judge Stephen A. Lowell in law practice at Pendleton and enjoyed dairy enthusiast and has a large dairy farm on Wild Horse creek six miles northeast of Pendleton. Basidas dairying he holds several large tracts of wheat on the Umatilla reservation.

The appointment was not unexpected as he and Governor Chamberlain have been warm friends for many years. Be-sides his friendship with the governor, Mr. Hailey has been so prominent in politics that he was almost sure to have received the Democratic nomination for the congressional election this next year

Mr. Hailey has served as mayor of Pendieton, and district attorney for Umatilia and Morrow counties. While serving in the two capacities he made a great effort to close gambling and control the vicious element of Pendieton. He was signally successful, and during his reign the city of Pandleton was freer from gambling than it has been since. Mr. Hailey has many friends over the state who will be well pleased at the governor's choice and who wish him success in his new position.
