NUMBER 26

ARMY ON POINT OF OPEN REBELLION

Navy Ready to Bombard Sea Coast Cities

(Scripps News Association)

St. Petersburg, Nov. 29.—The conditions are steadily growing worse and the city is wholly without communication from the interior. There is frantic selling on the stock exchange today and the prices are the lowest on record.

All of the male telegraphers of the city have struck today. Women are working at Moscow as operators. The police at Grodne have joined the strike. The revolutionary spirit in the Manchurian army is a serious menace. Fully a hundred officers have been arrested for advocating the revolutionary doctrines and the number guilty of subordination are far too great to even attempt to arrest.

ARMY REBELS

St. Petersburg, Nov. 29.—Military officials here admit that no reliance can be placed on the line regiments, not even those stationed in the capital. According to the officers, the spirit of revolt prevades the whole army, and the troops in Manchuria are almost in open revolt.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 29.—Advices just received from Sevastopol say that the Black Sea squadron is ready to bombard the city. The authorities believe the surrender of the city is imminent.

Narrow Escape

(Scripps News Association)

Eureka, Cal., Nov. 29.—With her rudder post and her under jury rig gone, the steamer Roanoke, now proceeding to San Francisco, while attempting to cross the bar at four yesterday afternoon, had a narrow escape from disaster. In the hurry, the seas, which cut away the rudder, washed over the helpless craft. The tugs answered the distress signals, and to the astonishment of the life savers the Roanoke drifted broadside over the dangerous bar and out to sea on an ebb tide. The tugs and life savers stood by while temporary repairs were made to the rudder. Early this morning the vessel started south with no passengers as they were taken ashore. The extent of the damage is unknown although it is thought that the vessel is leaking.

TAKES STAND FOR HIMSELF

(Scripps News Association)

Annapolis, Nov. 29.—Meriwether took the stand in his own defense this morning. He said the first time he ever saw Branch was on September 1st, 1904 when the upper classman returned from a cruise. Branch was sent aboard as a prisoner for some offense committed on the cruise. The witness said Branch made himself as offensive as possible. He said Branch began to nag him. Meriwether said that there is a great deal of difference between running and hating. He said hating meant forcing the victim to do physical exercise of which the one being hated could stand any amount. Running meant doing personal things that could not be tolerated. He then entered into a detailed statement how he had been constantly persecuted by nagging.

ESTIMATE COST OF IMPROVED SYSTEM

Water System Could Be Operated More Economically From Springs

Water Superintendent H. C. Gilman who was the first to champion the Folk springs proposition for a water supply for city purposes, took exception to the article appearing in the Observer a few days ago, wherein it was stated that exclusive of the cost of the purchase price of the springs, it would cost something like $15,000 to pipe the water from the springs to the city reservoir, a distance of about two miles.

Mr. Gilman offers the following figures and if he is correct the total cost including the prices asked by the owners of the springs would not exceed $13,000. He states that six inch pipe can be obtained for 27 cents a foot and that the pipe can be laid and covered the proper depth, for 20 cents per foot. It is a fact that during the last year over 15,000 feet of pipe have been covered in the city, in a ditch of over two feet at prices ranging from 6 cents to 11½ cents per foot consequently the price of 20 cents seems sufficient. Thus Mr. Gilman figures that the pipe can be purchased and laid for 47 cents per foot which for the two miles would mean an investment of $8,170. As $2500 was asked the committee by the owners of the Schilling springs; and $3000 for the Folk springs, this would make a total for the supply of $10,670. To this amount Mr. Gilman adds $2000 for developing the spring making a total cost to the city of $12,670. Mr. Gilman gives the following figures as the cost and maintenance of the present pumping plant for one year:

Wood	$3000
Engineer one year	900
Extra engineer, four months	300
Extras	250
Total	$4,450

This makes an average cost of the present system of $370 per month.

Allowing that in all probability that during the irrigation season the pumps would have to assist the springs, and that the cost for wood, which is $8.75 per day and one engineer and the interest on the $15,000 would make a total cost of $1890. Deduct this amount from the $4450 which the system now costs, the city would make a saving of $2870 and the city would then have the best and purest of water.

On the basis that the above figures are approximately correct, the only argument that can be brought against the city either purchasing these springs or condemning them, is that the supply is limited. He states that for purely domestic purposes, there is sufficient water to supply this city and enough to supply La Grande when her present population is doubled, excepting during the irrigation season. He states that these springs are now running 144,000 gallons every twenty four hours and that there are 450 consumers of city water. He states that he has carefully examined the reports of engineers and water superintendents, and such reports vary from 55 to 65 gallons per day per patron. Mr. Gilman raises these figures ten gallons per day, per consumer, and on a basis of 450 patrons, would require a supply of 55,750 gallons. Consequently if these springs furnish a supply of 144,000 gallons daily, the contention made by Mr. Gilman that the city should take steps to secure this system is certainly entitled to the closest consideration by the council.
