Public Conscience Undergoing A Change

Reflected in Expressions of Prominent Men
Why We Should be Thankful

The Christian Herald, one of the best family weekly newspapers published in the United States, submitted to a number of the state governors, mayors, bishops and ministers of different denominations, presidents of colleges and universities, government officials, judges, prominent lawyers and leading thinkers in various fields, the following question:

"What has the world in general and the American people in particular to be especially grateful for at this Thanksgiving?" We reproduce what three of our Pacific coast governors say, which practically gives the key note of the expression of scores of others who expressed their views.

This all goes to show that the American people have taken a stand for a higher and a purer public conscience in corporate and civic matters; for the increased respect for those things that money cannot buy—the things that make for national and individual character and happiness. These are the causes for especial gratitude that are mentioned in very many of the expressions of the individual views.

CALIFORNIA'S GOVERNOR

The American people ought to be, and are, thankful, without regard to political faith or prejudices, that there is, throughout the whole United States, a civic awakening, evidenced by the fact that in all but ten of the States public officials, guilty of corrupt practices, are being punished for their offenses. Instead of this being a sign of a decadence in public morality, it is a sign of a decided improvement.

GOVERNOR PARDEE

Improvement, for venal public officials are not a new creation, but have always been in existence. It is only lately, however, that the public has taken the matter up and determined to rid itself of the bribe-giver and bribe-taker.

Especially thankful ought the American people to be that at the head of the nation stands President Roosevelt, who, by personal example and unwearied official effort, has done so much to arouse the sleeping public conscience.

Geo. C. PARDEE
Sacramento, Calif.

OREGON'S GOVERNOR

The world in general has reason to be thankful, because of the fact that we have a peace universal and the nations of the earth, generally speaking, are reasonably prosperous and happy. The American people in particular have occasion to rejoice in the fact that, for the first time in many years, they have a President who does not hesitate to ferret out criminals in his own official family, and to punish crime in high places wherever found, without fear or favor. That governors of a few of the states, the mayors and prosecuting officers of some of the cities, of our country are beginning to look upon public office as a public trust, and are fearlessly enforcing the law and punishing violators thereof. If such Presidents, such governors, such mayors and such prosecuting officers can be continued in office, the managers of life insurance companies and other trust concerns will soon cease to rob the widow and the orphan, and refrain from using trust funds to corrupt legislatures and debauch the voters of the country.

GOVERNOR CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON'S GOVERNOR

It seems to me that the chief things for which the American people are to be thankful for at this season, are: The fact that it has been given to this Republic to lead the warring nations of the world to peace; the fact that a remarkable prosperity exists throughout the land; and the further fact that there appears to be spreading over the entire country a better realization of the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship.

ALBERT E. MEAD.

Olympia, Wash.

VERMONT'S GOVERNOR

We should be thankful for abundant crops and a busy life; that we are citizens of as great a nation, and that we have a President who is today the greatest Peace Commissioner on earth.

Forester's Ball

The Forester's annual Thanksgiving ball, tomorrow night at the Commercial Club, will certainly be the leading social event yet to take place this season. The Commercial Club hall will be artistically decorated and the previous good record of the Foresters will be sustained on this occasion.

If things keep on, it will be popular to be honest.

Uses For The Phonograph

Is there an invalid in the home? Let the Edison Phonograph drive away the weary hours for her. Perhaps it is an old man whose memories are all in the past. The phonograph will sing the songs that he loves.

Are the children hard to amuse? The Phonograph never fails to keep them out of mischief.

Do you live in the country? Buy a Phonograph and get at small cost what people in the cities pay one or two dollars a night to hear. You can at insignificant cost keep in touch with the world of entertainment and music.

Are you wondering what you will take with you on your vacation or what you will carry along when you go home for the holidays? Let it be an Edison Phonograph and a good assortment of records; his out it never fails to please; it will make you a welcome guest everywhere. It is easily carried and takes up practically no room.

LA GRANDE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

PROF. DAY, PRINCIPLE.
MRS. DAY, ASSISTANT.

This is one of the best musical institutions in the state, and that people in this city and valley are beginning to discover the advantage of this school. The system is the latest and most practical, and includes all the latest discoveries in the art of teaching music. The school is divided into two departments; No. 1 is for beginners from 5 years or more and are taught the first three grades. Pupils come one hour each day. This is no kindergarten system but far superior. In No. 2 the grades are from 2 to 5. Here they graduate. Pupils take one or two lessons a week as they desire. No scholars will be permitted to remain in this school who do not study.
