ROYAL GOOD FELLOW

Pendleton, Dec. 2.—Albert Percy Watmough Evans, "son of a millionaire distiller, midshipman in his royal highness' navy" head waiter at Bingham Springs and a friend of Marshal Coffman, has eloped all by himself, after having passed three or four worthless checks upon his friends in this city. From here he is thought to have left for Spokane this morning, but he has not yet been found, though instructions have been sent out for his arrest by the sheriff.

He Prayed Harp

An old man in Georgia named Jack Baldwin, having lost his hat in an old dry well one day, hitched a rope to a stump and let himself down. A wicked wag named Neal came along just then and, quietly detaching a bell from Baldwin's old blind horse, approached the well bell in hand and began to ring-a-ling.

Jack thought the old horse was coming and said: "Hang the old blind horse! He's coming this way sure, and he ain't got no more sense than to fall in on me. Whoa, Ball!"

The sound came closer.

"Great Jerusalem, the old blind fool will be right on top of me in a minute! Whoa, Ball! Whoa, haw, Ball!"

Neal kicked a little dirt on Jack's head, and Jack began to pray.

"Oh, Lord, have mercy on—whoa, Ball!—a poor sinner—I'm gone now; whoa, Ball. Our Father who art in—whoa, Ball!—hallowed be thy—gee, Ball, gee! what'll I do?—name. Now I lay me down to sleep—gee! Ball!" Just then in fell some more dirt. "Oh, Lord, if you ever intend to do anything for me—back, Ball! whoa!—thy kingdom come—gee, Ball! Oh, Lord, you know I was baptised in Smith's mill dam—whoa, Ball! ho! ud! murder! whoa!"

Neal could hold in no longer and shouted a laugh which might have been heard two miles, which was about as far as Jack chased him when he got out.—Atlanta Journal.
