WHERE UNION COUNTY'S BARLEY SUPPLY GOES

La Grande Brewery Will Install Artificial Ice Plant Next Year and Increase Bottling Works

Julius Roesch, proprietor of the La Grande Brewery, estimates that he consumes fully one-third of the Union county barley crop yearly. This season he purchased 10,000 bushels of the best brewing barley early in the season, paying from 92 1/4 to 98 cents a hundred. He was indeed, fortunate, as the price of the poorest feed barley at this time has almost reached that figure.

A few years back Mr. Roesch made a specialty of shipping considerable malt from this city to inland points as far east as Salt Lake. The grain markets of the east have enabled the brewers of the more eastern points, together with cheaper freight rates, to purchase from the middle west. This had cut off part of the market from the La Grande establishment, but to meet the situation, Mr. Roesch enlarged sufficiently to consume the malt output at home.

Next season Mr. Roesch plans to install a cold storage and artificial ice plant and also to extend his bottling works capacity. If sufficient cold storage room can be contracted for among the merchants of the city, he will extend his buildings to furnish such facilities. Mr. Roesch will not attempt to retail artificial ice but will probably contract his output to some one who wishes to retail it to the trade. As this machinery will not be installed until next season some time the natural ice crop will be harvested this winter the same as heretofore.

The improvements contemplated by Mr. Roesch will be a great addition to the city's payroll and producing capacity. Mr. Roesch has been identified with the city's interest for many years and he will undoubtedly be supported in his new improvements by the business men of the community.

A MATTER OF ORTHOGRAPHY

After a few weeks at boarding school Alice wrote home as follows:

Dear Father: Though I was homesick at first, now that I am getting acquainted I like the school very much. Last evening Grayce and Kathryn (my room-mates) and I had a nice little chafing-dish party, and we invited three other girls, Mayme and Carrye Miller and Edyth Kent. I hope you are all well at home. I can't write any more now, for I have a lot of studying to do. With lots of love to all, Your affectionate daughter,

ALYSS.

To which she received the following reply:

My dear daughter Alyss: I was glad to receive your letter and to know that you are enjoying yourself. Uncle Jaymes came the other day, bringing Charlys and Albyrt with him. Your brother Henrie was delighted, for he has been lonely without you. I have bought a new gray horse whose name is Bylye. He matches nicely with old Freddie. With much love from us all, I am,

Your affectionate father,

WYLLIAM JONES.

The next letter from the absent daughter was signed, "Alice." E. D. Y.

LA GRANDE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

PROF. DAY, PRINCIPLE.
MRS. DAY, ASSISTANT.

This is one of the best musical institutions in the state, and that people in this city and valley are beginning to discover the advantage of this school. The system is the latest and most practical, and includes all the latest discoveries in the art of teaching music. The school is divided into two departments; No. 1 is for beginners from 5 years or more and are taught the first three grades. Pupils come one hour each day. This is no kindergarten system but far superior. In No. 2 the grades are from 2 to 6. Here they graduate. Pupils take one or two lessons a week as they desire. No scholars will be permitted to remain in this school who do not study.
