AMUSEMENTS

PHENOMENAL RANGE

The Whitman College Glee Club, which is to appear in the Opera House, Dec. 23, have an unusual range, even for a College Glee Club, one tone over three octaves—from the third B flat below middle C to the male "High C," the latter note comes out pure and strong in the comic rendition of the famous "Romeo and Juliet." In the room scene of the second part of the program. This room scene is to be one of great beauty as well as fun and harmony. The banners, pictures, etc. which are found in the college boys room will be brought by the boys from Walla Walla and no effort will be spared in making the setting as complete as possible.

MISS GEORGIA HARPER IN CAMILLE

Camille is one of those plays that will live forever. After the curtain falls on the last act one feels as if he could see it all over again and enjoy the second performance better than the first. The story is familiar to most theatre-goers. It tells how a woman of the world struggles to reform, but society meets her with sneers. Finally she falls in love for the first time in her life. Then begins her sacrifice. The family of the man she loves requests her to give him up, in order to save the family honor. In the pathetic scenes that follow she proves the nobility of her character by giving her life for the man she loves. "Let the woman once fall, what is there left for her? What man would call her wife? What child would call her mother?" Steward's Opera House, Thursday, Dec. 28.

JOHN DAY DAM

The dam across the John Day river above Spray was completed last Friday. The construction work was commenced on the 28th of August, last, the main dam being 14 feet high and 180 feet long with a 100 feet crib work on the south side. This dam marks the first step towards utilizing the waters of this stream for irrigation purposes, and its success will be observed with keen interest should this plan prove feasible the next few years will see thousands of acres of the fertile area along the John Day river producing bounteous crops.—Grant County Enterprise.
