AMUSEMENTS

MISS GRACE JOHNSON,
With Grace Johnson Company.

A WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT

The Grace Johnson Company will open a week's engagement this evening at Steward's opera house, and the theater going public has a right to expect a good entertainment. The press throughout the West have only words of praise for the leading lady, Miss Grace Johnson, and the same can almost be said of the entire company. The box sheet this afternoon assures a good attendance for the opening night. The opening bill will be "A Southern Rose" in which Miss Johnson is said to appear to her best advantage. The piece is replete with good comedy though the strength of the play is not sacrificed in order to create a laugh.

GLEE CLUB

The Washington State College Glee Club will soon make its tenth annual tour of the northwest. Since last September the Club has been hard at work under the skilled guidance of Prof. Strong. The Glee contains more voices than usual and will be assisted by Mrs. Strong, soprano prima donna and Prof. Kimbrough pianist. The chorus of the Club is especially strong both in numbers and in the quality of the voices. The solo work is much above the ordinary. Original compositions by members of the Club, especially those of Mr. DeForest Cline, are expected to create favorable comment. A musical comedy is also part of the program. The Club tour will begin about Feb. 8th and last two weeks. The manager, Frank Kreager left this morning to make dates or ten concerts from the following towns: Lewiston, Walla Walla, Dayton, Waitsburg, Pendleton, Salem, La Grande, Baker City, The Dalles, Corvallis, Eugene, Portland, Mootesano, Tacoma, Olympia, North Yakima, Everett, Ellensburg and Spokane. The proposed tour this year is more extended than before. However the boys feel that the Club additions, and a better program, they will meet with success. Last year the Club received a hearty welcome wherever it appeared not only because of their excellent program, but because of their good behavior, as gentlemen.

COMING

Mr. Charles B. Hanford's present tour has been an occasion of the most brilliant series of productions with which he has ever been associated. This is saying much for Mr. Hanford is recognized today as a leader in his profession; one who preserves its most worthy traditions and yet who believes in profiting every accessory that modern stage craft can devise. Only the best plays that have graced the English language engage Mr. Hanford's interest. This season he will present a series of resplendent productions of The Merchant of Venice, Othello, The Taming of the Shrew and Ingomar. Not only does this tour present in Mr. Hanford a star whose popularity might be said to be relied upon to win public approbation, but the supporting company presents a most distinguished list of players, including that now celebrated portrayer of classic feminine roles, Miss Marie Dornah. The stage settings and costumes have been designed and executed on a scale commensurate with the determination to make this season a pre-eminent one in Mr. Hanford's career. Neither scholarship, artistry nor expense has been spared in securing historic accuracy, beauty and richness.

IT REASONS WELL

Do not deaden a crying nerve with opium but remove the prod that makes the outcry. Nerves are intelligent and they do not cry "wolf! wolf!" unless there is cause for it. It would be one way to restore confidence in the sheep fold by giving the lambs something to destroy all sense of fear at the approach of the devourer; but it would not make for their welfare. Nor does opium or other drugs which deaden the nervous system, protect the body against the ravages of disease. It simply paralyzes the usual action of the nerves by which the body is warned of its enemy—disease.

The Osteopath seeks the prod that causes the pain of gastralgia, the twitching of St. Vitus dance, or the lethargy of paralysis. He removes it when that is possible, and the sensible nerves cease their cry. Pain is the prayer of the body for relief, not the asking for nerve intoxication. Let your nerves think for you. If they tell you there is trouble, go to an Osteopath. Your body needs not doping but good engineering.
