ADVICE TO HIS SON

"Nothing has impressed me more than the scene in the death chamber of old King David. By his side, stood his son, Solomon, to whom he was giving his dying message. Looking up in the face of the boy, he said: 'I go the way of all the earth; be thou strong therefore, and show thyself a man.' Did he tell him, 'show thyself a prince?' Not that. 'My son, Solomon, I go the way of all the earth; be thou strong, therefore, and show thyself a man!' There is nothing bigger than a man; only one thing in the universe bigger than a man, and that is God himself."

He referred to William E. Gladstone as the greatest man the world has ever known, and also paid a tribute to Queen Victoria, both of whom he contended, owed the grandeur of their lives to Christian inspiration. If asked the name of the greatest ruler America ever had, Rev. Sam Jones would say, unhesitatingly that it was the Godly, Bible-reading President who occupies the White House today.—Extract from Sam Jones.

BIG EPISCOPALIAN GATHERING

New York, Jan. 25.—Under the auspices of the Junior Clergy Missionary Association of New York a large meeting of Episcopalians will be held at Carnegie Hall this evening, in the interest of the missions of the Episcopal Church. Bishop Grear will preside at the meeting and among the prominent speakers who will address the meeting will be Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts and the Rev. Dr. A. S. Lloyd.

STOOD FIRM

Sam Jones in Portland the other day referred to the attempt of the Louisiana Lottery officials to bribe Governor Nichols of that state in a genteel way by suggesting that if he would permit the act extending their charter to become a law without his signature, it would enhance his finances some way to the extent of $460,000, and how the executive made reply by lifting himself on his crutches to his full height and saying:

"This leg was shot away at Gettysburg; this arm I lost at Chancellorville, and this eye was shot out on the bloody field of Shiloh, but I would rather lose every limb and the other eye than accede to your request—get out of my office!"

IT REASONS WELL

Do not deaden a crying nerve with opium but remove the prod that makes the outcry. Nerves are intelligent and they do not cry "wolf! wolf!" unless there is cause for it. It would be one way to restore confidence in the sheep fold by giving the lambs something to destroy all sense of fear at the approach of the devourer; but it would not make for their welfare. Nor does opium or other drugs which deaden the nervous system, protect the body against the ravages of disease. It simply paralyzes the usual action of the nerves by which the body is warned of its enemy—disease.

The Osteopath seeks the prod that causes the pain of gastralgia, the twitching of St. Vitus dance, or the lethargy of paralysis. He removes it when that is possible, and the sensible nerves cease their cry. Pain is the prayer of the body for relief, not the asking for nerve intoxication. Let your nerves think for you. If they tell you there is trouble, go to an Osteopath. Your body needs not doping but good engineering.

LA GRANDE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

PROF. DAY, PRINCIPLE.

MRS. DAY, ASSISTANT.

This is one of the best musical institutions in the state, and that people in this city and valley are beginning to discover the advantage of this school. The system is the latest and most practical, and includes all the latest discoveries in the art of teaching music. The school is divided into two departments; No. 1 is for beginners from 5 years or more and are taught the first three grades. Pupils come one hour each day. This is no kindergarten system but far superior. In No. 2 the grades are from 2 to 5. Here they graduate. Pupils take one or two lessons a week as they desire. No scholars will be permitted to remain in this school who do not study.
