THE COLORADO BEET CROP

Has Been the Largest in the History of the State the Last Year.

The sugar beet crop in Colorado this year is worth $10,000,000. It is the largest production in the history of the state, and is all the more valuable when it is considered that last year's crop was not a beet was raised within the confines of the state. Within the eight years ten sugar beetries have been built and placed in operation and three more are now under construction, and will be ready for business next fall.

The $10,000,000 which this year's crop will bring will go directly to the farmers of the state at the price of $10.00 per ton. The average profit to the farmer for several years has been $35 per acre on irrigated lands. This year alone one company, the Great Western Sugar company, contracted for the cultivation of more than 50,000 acres of beets for the use of its six factories and will pay out $4,000,000 to the growers. Colorado now stands second among the states in the production of beet sugar.

Rich Field to Explore.

What will Manchuria bring forth when capitalists knock at its doors? One vast field of mines and rich farming and grazing lands, say many who believe that the mineral deposits of Manchuria are fabulously rich. Some of the samples of ore promise large results, and the indications of "crop" are said to warrant thorough prospecting and expert opinions when capital seeks investment in mines. But, as a rule, the securing of good title to good properties and their operation are questions too nebulous at present to allure capital.
