GRANGE NOTES

State Master F. P. Wolcott, with a good corps of helpers is pushing grange work in Kentucky.

California patrons ask members of the order in other states to help push along the parcels post measure in the present congress.

Sister B. B. Lord, past master of the New York state grange, has been commissioned by State Master Kegley of Washington, for special organizing work and will soon be heard from with the usual good results.

Maine's state motto is "I lead." As a grange state she leads in several items. She has the largest subordinate grange in the world, with nearly 1000 members. Has nearly $1,000,000 invested in grange halls. She has just re-elected her good leader, Brother Gardner.

State Master W. K. Thompson of South Carolina says that better days are coming to us in grange work all the time.

Two new granges have been organized in Monmouth County, N. J., since the last grange meeting.

Colorado patrons are already looking ahead and planning for the 1906 meeting of the national grange in Denver.

NEW FLYING MACHINE

Two well known French aeronauts, Louis Gaddard and Felix Faure, have invented a flying machine which actually lifts itself without the aid of gas. A horizontal propeller is used. Their latest machine developed a lift of over 20 pounds to the horsepower, and as gasoline motors are now built weighing not over five pounds to the horsepower, it is apparently quite practicable to construct on this principle a machine that will actually fly. Their further experiments will be closely watched.
