PRICES FOR 1906 GRAIN BAGS

Olympia, Wash., Jan. 31.—The board of control today finished its estimates on the cost of the products to be turned out by the jute mill at the penitentiary in Walla Walla, and announced the following prices for the year 1906:

Grain, bags $6.50; oat bags, $7.25; ore bags, 10 cents each; wool bags, 30 cents; hop cloth, 10½ cents per yard; burlap, 6 cents per yard; kiln cloth, 5 cents per yard; matting, 18 inch, 20 cents per yard, 27 inch 25 cents per yard, 36 inch, 50 cents per yard; fleece twine (120 string) 10 cents per pound; hop warp (240 string) 10 cents per pound.

The prices are somewhat in advance of those which prevailed last year, but this is accounted for by the increased cost of the jute over last year.

WILL BURN OIL

Within a week work will be begun at the O. R. & N. Albina shops to change locomotives now operating on that road over the divisions from Portland to Umatilla to oil burners, and by the last of next month every engine hauling trains over those divisions will use oil exclusively for fuel. Huge oil tanks will be built in the Albina yards and at the ends of the divisions between Portland and Umatilla, work upon which will be begun within a short time. All Southern Pacific lines in Oregon will be equipped with oil-burning engines during the coming spring, and by June it is believed every locomotive hauling Southern Pacific rolling stock will use crude petroleum for fuel.

A MODERN MIRACLE

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt of this place," writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford, Tenn., "she was so wasted by coughing up pus from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bed-side forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, and with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman today." 50¢ and $1.00 at NEWLIN DRUG CO. SOME GOOD ADVICE

It has been a custom with many heartless people in Baker county to work their horses for all they are worth during the summer and then turn them out to rustle on the range during the winter. This winter in particular has been very hard on these horses and many are dying.

Many ranchers throughout the country refuse to take up these horses and feed them because they believe they can get pay for the same. So many inquiries and statements to this effect have been made that the attention of these ranchers should be called to the estray law of Oregon.

Under the provisions of this law any animal can be taken up and fed and the man performing this work can collect pay from the owner of the animal. The law provides that when the animal is taken up the one taking it up shall advertise the fact for a certain length of time and if at the end of that period the owner does not claim his property and pay the cost of caring for it, the person taking it up may sell it, deduct his cost bill for feeding and caring for the animal, retain half the proceeds and send the other half to the state. Or if the animal does not sell for enough to pay the cost he may keep it himself, that is, he may bid it in.

These are the general provisions of the law but it would be well to consult an attorney and go strictly according to the statutes. But in no instance can the owner claim his horse and take it away without paying for its keep. The law protects the man who is kindhearted enough to these poor starving creatures off the range.—Baker City Herald.
