AMUSEMENTS

AN EVENING OF PLEASURE

The Central Church of Christ was comfortably filled last evening with patrons of the Popular Entertainment Course to listen to the reading of Elsworth Plumstead. This was the third number of the course, and it is safe to say that each and every individual present was well pleased and completely satisfied with the evening entertainment. Mr. Plumstead is certainly an entertainer of the highest order. His readings and impersonations were well calculated to please and his style and manner of rendition was unique though correct.

GOOD ROADS

County Judge H. J. Bean yesterday advised Senator Fulton by telegraph the county court's acceptance of the government's offer to construct a sample mile of macadamized road near Pendleton. It is expected that Senator Fulton will at once take up the matter with the government and ascertain when it will be ready to begin work on the road.

County Judge Bean stated yesterday that the members of the county court were unanimous in accepting the offer and that the court first interviewed a large number of residents of this vicinity relative to the matter before taking final action.

The matter was discussed at a recent meeting of the Pendleton Commercial association and the members seemed to be a unit in desiring some way to secure the sample road. That body passed a resolution requesting the county court to accept the government's proposition and to appropriate necessary funds to carry on the work.

The location of the sample road has not been determined as yet but that feature of the matter will be considered at a later date.—Pendleton tribune.

OUT OF DEBT

"I suppose the statement that Oregon is out of debt is no longer considered news," remarked State Treasurer Charles Moore at the Imperial hotel, "but I will tell you something that perhaps may interest you.

"As far as I know, Oregon is the only state in Union today which practically does not owe a dollar and never had a dollar of bonded indebtedness. However, when I make the latter statement I do so with a slight reservation.

"Once upon a time," as the fairy story goes, there was an Indian war in the northwest, and the state needed money. Bonds were issued, the proceeds of the sale of which were used to prosecute the war. The bonds were outstanding such a short length of time that it is hardly fair to charge them against the financial record of Oregon.

THE SPECIAL MEETINGS

The meetings in Central Church go right on with fine interest. Already six have united with the congregation and others are expected very soon. There will be no services tomorrow evening.

Sunday Morning Evangelist Handsaker will speak on "The Twentieth Century Church". In this sermon he will consider the question "What is an up-to-date Church? In the evening the theme will be "The Opening of a Will" Come and bring your friends. The services are short and full of life. Special music is a feature.
