SOME RAILROAD QUESTIONS WHICH DEMAND ATTENTION

(Scripture News Association)

Washington, Mar. 13—Are the trans-continental railroads in league with the milling interests of the Pacific Coast terminals? From Kansas comes the cyclonic answer that such is the case and that Kansas milling industry perishes even as the state cries for help. The Howard Mills Company, of Wichita, Kansas, by its complaint filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission proposes to show who purchased the Missouri Pacific, the Santa Fe and Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and Denver and Rio Grande, the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific railroad companies are guilty of doing an injustice to and discriminating against all Kansas milling business, not only the interest of the Howard Mills but all flour manufacturers of the sunflower State.

In its complaint the Howard Mills company declares that the railroads exact a rate of sixty-five cents per 100 pounds for the transportation of flour from Wichita, Kansas, to San Francisco, Calif. and other Pacific Coast terminals in car-load lots, whereas at the same time they charge a rate of only fifty-five cents for wheat between the same points in the same lots. "This differential of ten cents in favor of wheat against flour, exists from all Kansas points to Pacific Coast terminals," says the complainant. It is pointed out that from Spokane, Washington, and Portland, Oregon, to San Francisco, the rates on flour and wheat are the same.

"Such differentials operates disastrously to the flour mills of Kansas and unjustly upbuilds the milling interest of the Pacific Coast terminals, which are in competition with the flour mills of Kansas," concludes the complaint. "Dialers, manufacturers, and shippers of flour at Pacific Coast terminals receive undue and unjust preference, in violation of the act to regulate commerce."

The Commission will designate a date at which testimony will be taken in regard to the matter.

THE POPE ON CIVIL MARRIAGES

At the request it is said, of a large number of Cardinals, Pope Pius X has published a new catechism, intended primarily for the use of the church throughout Italy. According to the German papers, the catechism reveals, on the part of the Pope, a more tolerant attitude toward civil marriage than characterized his predecessors. In answer to the question, "What is Civil Marriage?" it is stated to be "a formality prescribed by the law in order to guarantee and secure for the married couple and their children the results of such marriage in their civil relations." The question is asked, if such civil marriage suffices. The answer is naturally given in the negative, because it is not a sacrament. Again it is stated that if a couple is married only by the civil authorities, the church cannot recognize such a covenant as legitimate. But in reply to the question if people should enter upon such a civil marriage, the answer is given that this should be done because of the civil results and rights before the law that are conditioned on such an arrangement. For this reason, says the catechism, as a rule the church authorities will perform the church marriage only after the civil marriage has already been performed.

A correspondent in the Christliche Welt, of Marburg (No. 2), declares that this is a noteworthy concession to the actual state of affairs, as the civil marriage law, introduced soon after the occupation of Rome in 1870 had never before been recognized by the church, and this has resulted in countless children being declared legitimate and losing their inheritance.—Translation made for The Literary Digest.
