Blue Mountain Grange has unanimously adopted a resolution favoring a high state liquor license. If all the granges in the state take the same stand they will prove to be a power.

The high standing of the men who are aspirants for the office of United States Senator, gives the legislature no excuse whatever from ratifying the choice of the people, whoever wins in the primaries.

As a benefactor of humanity, the much eulogized man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, isn't a circumstance beside the man who makes a dozen small farms smile where just one big ranch "smile" before.

The world delights in sunny people. The old are hungering for love more than for bread. The air of joy is very cheap; and, if you can help the poor on with a garment of praise, it will be better for them than blankets.—Henry Drummond.

With Judge Lowell of Pendleton and Hon. E. L. Smith of Hood River as aspirants for the United States Senate, the question is being debated, what effect their candidacy will have on the two Portland candidates Johnathan Bourne and Wm. Calk.

Greater miracles in agricultural development are being wrought out by irrigation than have ever been accomplished by drainage. Irrigation under government control is literally making the desert to blossom as the rose.

If we are to change the conduct of men, we must change their conditions. Extreme poverty and crime go hand in hand. Destitution multiplies temptations and destroys the finer feelings. The bodies and souls of men are apt to be clad in like garments. If the body is covered with rags, the soul is generally in the same condition. Self-respect is gone—the man looks down—he has neither hope nor courage. He becomes sinister—he envies the prosperous—hates the fortunate, and despises himself.—Robert Ingersoll.

Had Russia been a country of small farms, like France, and had a small part of the governmental energy which was expended in military aggression on weaker neighbors been spent in promoting an improved agriculture, the present revolution would probably never have occurred. The quarrel of the people was not with the principle of autocracy—rather, the glory in it—but with a false social system based on the ownership of the land by a few.

Just about one half of the voters of the county have registered. The success of the new primary is on trial. Many of the politicians maintain that while in theory the law is a good one, in practice the people will not assume the additional responsibilities and it will not work as satisfactory as the old convention system. The Observer has complete confidence in the ability of the masses of the people. But it must be remembered that before they can participate under the new conditions that they must register. Not only register but must turn out to the primary election and pick out the most competent men who are aspiring for nominations. If the people do this good tickets will be nominated by the two dominant parties.

The cold weather has no effect upon the creamery business. This industry continues to exchange checks for cream just the same as if the flowers were in bloom and the grass green. The same will be true when the spring months come and the cows are fresh. The farmers, as a rule realize this fact and are loyal to the creamery. They realize that under the present system of cream separators and creameries the farmer is relieved of the trade and traffic drudgery which prevailed when the only way to dispose of the butter was to peddle it from door to door or exchange it for goods at the store. The butter business is now upon a cash basis and all persons concerned are pleased and satisfied.

A MODERN MIRACLE
"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt of this place," writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford, Tenn., "she was so wasted by coughing up pus from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bed-side forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, and with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman today." 50c and $1.00 at NEWLIN DRUG CO.
