$2000

Owing to hard luck I am compelled to sacrifice my stock to raise that amount of money within the next 12 days. I have just received 2 car loads of new furniture and one car load of new steel ranges, which I bought for the spring trade, but owing to financial circumstances I am compelled to raise $2000 at once, and will make the following prices. The prices hereafter named are the wholesale prices in Portland less the freight.

CLEANLINESS

As milk is the natural food for the young, containing within itself all the requirements of the body, and as any adulteration is injurious to the system, (either from absorption or otherwise) therefore the health of the consumer, and especially the young, depend to a great extent upon those who handle the milk. And as there are so many ways in handling the cow as well as the milk after being drawn from the cow. Every consumer should visit the place from whence he gets his milk (no matter if it is surrounded by a high board fence) and see how the cow and the milk are handled before using it as a food for the baby.

AMUSEMENTS

The music at the entertainment tomorrow night will be one of the most pleasing features. The male quartet will sing a number of selections among which are "Dear Old Town", "Phyllis and her Mother", and "A Medley of Southern Songs." This last alone is worth the price of admission.

A mixed quartet will sing "A Vision", a most tuneful and catchy song.

Mr. R. U. Hockenberry will sing "King Charles", a bass solo of recent composition and very popular. He will also sing "The Armorer's Song" from Robin Hood which is a part of the repertoire of almost every bass soloist in the country.

All the music, save one selection, will be after the debate. This will give the judges time to make up their decision without causing a tiresome wait which is a feature of too many debates.

SWAIN COMPANY AT TACOMA

There was a time when the stock company was the thing. In Boston, as well as in many other Eastern cities, there have been stock companies that would put to the blush half the traveling combinations that essay the drama. For weeks, months, and in many instances, years, stock actors of those days held sway in the affections of theater-goers, and there was no lack of evidence of appreciation in patronage. One of the ideal stock companies has come to Tacoma to play a five week's engagement at the Tacoma theater. The Mark Swain Theater Company is the title, and it opened at the Tacoma last night, presenting a pretty Southern drama entitled "The Rose of Virginia." The play is a love story of unusual strength and interest, and the Swain Company gives it in a powerful manner. There is the Rose of Old Virginia, the girl who has that musical intonation that goes with the Southern beauty; the gallant lover, the clever villain, the jolly young people who see only the sunlight in life; the old darky servant, who is now merely a memory in the South; the two colonels who have quarreled over a trifle, and who finally make it up in real old-fashioned manner, and with scenery that fits "The Rose of Virginia" is really a high-class production at popular prices. Cora King Swain appears as the heroine, "Leona Randolph; Frank Fanning is the hero, Robert Gray; Bert S. Frank is the villain, and William Hutchinson the old slave, Lige. Other members of the ample company have interesting roles and are all capable players. The stage settings are unusually fine.

This company will open a week's engagement at Steward's opera house, April 10.
