HOW TO CURE DYSPEPSIA

To form an idea how osteopathic treatment may give one a better digestion without having prescribed any artificial papaia, it is only necessary to get some conception of how the normal stomach di-gests food without medical aid in the first place. What performs the work of digestion? Glands which secrete digestants and muscles which churn the food around and move it onward? Yes, if you consider the immediate agency, but what is back of these muscle and gland cells to keep them going and properly regulated?
Nervous energy and the blood supply.
Here is the great source of physiological energy. These agencies feed and regulate all processes of life. They are likewise the Osteopath's only "medicine." Osteopathic treatment consists, not in trying to supply more nerve force and blood than a patient possesses, but in utilizing what he has properly. This treatment is finding out what obstructions in the body have prevented the normal nerve energy and blood sustenance from reaching the organs of digestion and then removing such obstructions, allowing Nature to do her proper work. That's all. No wonder, then, that Osteopathy cures dyspepsia.—Osteopathic Health.

WORDS OF PRAISE

Dr. James W. Miller of Corvallis, Republican candidate for governor, was in the city last evening on his way from Salem to his home. He has filed his petition and is ready for the primaries, when, according to the reports coming from all parts of the state, he will doubtless be nominated to head the Republican ticket at the June election for the position of chief executive of the State of Oregon.
From all parts of the state come the most encouraging reports to Dr. Withycombe, and it is becoming more evident every day that he is one of the best campaign organizers in the state, and it is conceded by the most skillful politicians that he is a successful campaigner. If he is as vigorous and careful in his campaign for the election as he has been in the primary campaign, he will come nearer polling the party vote than any other man in the state. He is a man of action, a speaker of ability and a rapid thinker and will give a good account of himself when the time comes. On every public question he has boldly and fearlessly taken a stand without quibbling or equivocation, and his opponents have left him severely alone throughout the campaign.—
