J. R. Whitney has made a faithful servant of the people during the past term and if the people appreciate such services he will be re-nominated for state printer.

The Dalles Chronicle has greatly improved during the past few months and is readily classed with the dailies of other Eastern Oregon towns.

Attorney General Crawford is another man who should be continued in office and if the voters will consider his past services he will receive a vote in keeping with his record next Friday.

Big Creek is Democratic by 1, Hilgard by 2, Island City by 34, Perry by 3 as shown by the registered vote. These being the only Democratic precincts in the county.

One third of the county registration is represented in the five La Grande precincts and on a basis of a total vote in the June election of 4000 the five La Grande precincts will cast one fourth of the whole vote.

It is regarded as highly probable that a Republican State Convention will be held in Portland the latter part of April or the fore part of May. The purpose will be to adopt a platform upon which the Republican primary nominees may conduct a campaign, and to "ratify" the nominations made by the people of Oregon next Friday.

PRACTICAL WORK FOR SOLDIERS

The War Department is much gratified to observe the keen interest which is taken in the instructions originating with the President for practical work of soldiers in the field. It was expected that the idea would meet more or less criticism, and that the officers and men would not be especially desirous of going out into the field on long marches. Much work is entailed on the officers in charge of transportation and subsistence, but everybody takes hold of the ideas with great enthusiasm, from all accounts, and it is evident that practical results of a lasting nature will be derived from the weekly short marches and the monthly longer "hikes" with the three days camps. As an instance of the new dispensation, one of the features of the plans for the mobilization of the entire army in the United States at seven posts in the coming summer is a march of a portion of the second battalion of engineers from Washington Barracks to Plattsburg Barracks, on the banks of Lake Champlain. The troops will carry their full kits and will adopt the system of regular field provisioning. To that end, commissary officers are preparing to issue the necessary equipment for the cooking of the food on the march. The weekly and monthly marches in the next three months will put the battalion in fine condition for its long tramp.
