REFUGEE STRANDED IN LA GRANDE

Separated from his friends, without means and out of employment is the sad story of J. L. Lewis, a refugee from San Francisco. As soon as it was possible to secure transportation to Portland, and from there was sent to Elgin by an employment bureau, but was unable to hold his position. Through the financial assistance of J. Sommer he returned to La Grande and is in the city today. During an interview he said: "I was not with my friends when the calamity fell, but have since had information that they left San Francisco for Portland, but I am unable to find them there and fear that they are among the missing. The newspapers are not giving the facts of the disaster. Neither is the death list as high as it should be, as I am positive the soldiers have the authority and are misusing it. When the fire advanced toward a building the soldiers were given authority to break in the building and take any articles that might be there. In most cases the soldiers secured more food stuff than the hungry sufferers. Children are wandering around the streets lost and hungry. Husbands are separated from wives and families are scattered over the whole country." Mr. Lewis will make another attempt at returning to Portland where he thinks he will be able to secure more information and employment.

UNION COUNTY

Union County presents to the home seeker a greater number of diversified industries than any county in the state, out-side of Multnomah county which is practically Portland.

We do not believe that there is another county in the Inland Empire that can show fourteen different industries whose total annual revenue produces an average of $193,000.00 cash.

The annual report of the State labor Commissioner, places Union County third in the state, in the employment of labor.

It requires 194 solid trains of fourty cars each to carry the produce of our county to the market, more than a train every other day throughout the year.

"An admirable climate." The past winter only for a few hours did the mercury reach zero. No excessive heat in the summer and our cool refreshing nights cannot be appreciated by the residents of the east until they are permitted to enjoy them.

Our soil is rich and productive. Were we to mention yields they would not be believed. The only way to become acquainted with this "Garden of Eden" is to personally visit this land of diversity, as when you see the crops growing and harvested they speak for themselves.

Our forests will require many many decades of the present activity before they begin to yield and we now have thirty or more saw mills which give employment the year round in the mills and logging camps.

The only sugar beet factory in the state is located at La Grande, the County Seat of Union County with a population of 5,000 progressive wide awake people who extend the glad hand to all. This is the commercial, educational and social center of the county.

La Grande is known as the railroad town of the O. R. & N. Co. whose annual payroll at this place exceeds $500,000.00. From here the branch road is now pushing through the northern part of this county, into the Walla Walla County, starts a freight division, machine shops, round houses, and one of the largest railroad yards in the system, and trans-shipment centers. The public schools of La Grande are second to none in this state. We now have three buildings, and a fourth, an eight room brick building in course of construction giving employment to twenty-two teachers. The principal office of the Grande Road Electric Co. is located in this city. This Company furnishes power and light for the city of La Grande, Inland City, Coeur Union, and the Hot Lake Sanatorium.
