WESTERN NEW YORK TURNFEST

(Scripps News Association)
Rochester N. Y. June 29—For three days this city and particularly Seneca Park will be the gathering place and stamping ground of the Turners of the Western New York District, who are holding their annual Turnfest here. The management of the big gymnastic event is in the hands of the Rochester Turnverein, which is playing host to their gymnastic friends in Buffalo, Syracuse, Utica, Auburn, Fort Plain and other cities within the Western District.

Today, being the opening day of the Turnfest, is devoted principally to the preliminaries. During the morning the local committees received the arriving Turners as they stepped from their trains and conducted them to headquarters at Turner Hall, where everything was prepared for the accommodation and wants of the arriving athletes. The afternoon will be devoted to sightseeing and in the evening a reception will be given in honor of the guests. Tomorrow the great prize contest will be held at Seneca Park. The contest will begin in the morning and continue all through the day. In the evening the visiting Turners and their host will assemble in Turner Hall, where a Commemorative will be held with speeches, music and singing. On Sunday there will be a Volkfest at the Park, with popular games music and dancing and in the afternoon the prizes will be awarded to the victors in the various contests.

COTTON SPINNERS GIVE IN

Fall River, Mass. June 29—The cotton manufacturers of this city have granted the operators a fourteen per cent increase of wages. About twenty-five thousand hands will be benefited by the increase. The new scale, which will take effect next Monday, is practically the same as that prevailing previous to July 1, 1904. As other New England Cotton Manufacturing centres follow the lead of Fall River, as a rule, the change is expected, ultimately to effect all cotton mill workers in this section.

The controversy leading up to the settlement of the present wage question was one of the shortest in the history of Fall River textile troubles. For several months the unions had been dissatisfied with their dividends, these averaging lately but four and five, with occasionally eight per cent. As a result of a meeting of the textile council early in June a letter was sent to the Manufacturers' Association on June 8, requesting a restoration of the 12 1/2 per cent reduction in wages made in 1904. This request was refused by the manufacturers, who offered to guarantee a dividend of five per cent, dating from June 18 to October 1. The unions refused to accept the proposition. A fourteen per cent increase on the present wages is necessary to bring about a restoration of the 12 1/2 per cent reduction of 1904. The new rate will be substituted for the sliding scale dividend system.
