JAIL BREAK AT ASOTIN

A jail break here this morning resulted in the escape of three men held on the charge of robbing the Clarkston stores three weeks ago.

Burns, Brown and Stang were the only intimates of the county jail. All were peaceful when Sheriff Richards visited the corridors at 10 o'clock last night.

It is presumed the men made their getaway about 2 o'clock. They had evidently been supplied with tools, as they filed off the bars which guarded the windows of the jail.

A man who sleeps near the ferry landing states that shortly after 2 o'clock last night he noticed three men on the river bank. As one of the row boats is missing it is presumed that it was taken by the fugitives and that they made their way to Lewiston, and are either in hiding here or made their way further down the river.—Asotin Sentinel.

NEW COUNTY COURT

The new county court will close its first regular session this evening. Considerable business has come before the board, but Judge Henry has taken hold of the reigns of county government like "One to the manner born," and business has been disposed of with "Neatness and dispatch." The citizens of Union county are in able hands and will receive the same careful and upright attention which the importance of the work demands. The present court is composed of men who by careful management have made an unqualified success of their personal affairs, and those who know then feel certain that they will carry the same policy into the administration of the county business.

KICKED BY A HFN.

We have heard of men being kicked by horses, mules and cows, but seldom if ever does a newspaper have the opportunity to chronicle the event where a man is kicked by a hen. However, here is an instance. P. E. Colborn of this city has a refractory hen, and the other day when he went to take eggs from the nest, the hen actually rose up in wrath and kicked him on the hand. The hand became seriously swollen and the prompt attention of a physician prevented a case of blood poison.—Athena Press.

GOOD ADVICE

If you pass along the business streets of a town, asserts a thrifty "booster," and the business men are disposed to sing the praises of their associates, you have struck a good town. It is a good town for business, for homes—a good town for schools churches, public improvements and general municipal well being. If the merchants complain that the bankers buy goods in Chicago, if the doctors charge the lawyers with dishonesty, if the druggist claims the lumber dealer is a robber—in short, if there exists a cold-blooded, every-fellow-for-himself attitude you have struck a town that needs shaking up. If you live in a good town, get in touch with the spirit of reciprocity and the united-we-stand policy.
